Kleindienst Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee, in a report urging confirmation of Richard G. Kleindienst's nomination as attorney general, rejects accusations of a political deal in the settlement of anti-trust cases against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

"Based on the evidence, it is the conclusion of the committee that the settlement was reached on the merits after arm's-length negotiations between representatives of ITT and the (Justice Department's) antitrust division," the majority report says.

"Those negotiations and the settlement of the ITT cases were not the product of political influence or promises of political favor from ITT," it adds.

In a report to be filed Friday in the Senate, the committee concludes that Kleindienst, who was deputy attorney general at the time, "acted properly in the conduct of his office in the matter of the settlement of these cases."

A copy of the report, circulated among committee members, was obtained by The Associated Press.

The committee voted 11 to 4 on April 27, after its second round of hearings, to reaffirm its original recommendation that the Senate confirm Kleindienst's nomination to succeed John N. Mitchell.

A minority report is to be filed by senators who dissented from the committee's recommendation.

The majority, besides finding no evidence to support the charge of a political deal in the settlement of the antitrust cases against ITT, also concludes:

—That Kleindienst did not mislead the committee about his contacts with White House aide Peter M. Flanagan on the ITT case.

—That there was nothing improper or irregular about the way in which a financial analysis was obtained from a Wall Street investment banker, Richard J. Ramsden, on the effects of a forced divestiture of Hartford Fire Insurance Co. by ITT.

—That Kleindienst's handling of an investigation of U.S. Atty. Harry Steward in San Diego was in line with findings of the Justice Department's Criminal Division.

Schizophrenia Cause

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A research team said Thursday it has discovered the probable biological cause of schizophrenia, the personality-splitting disorder that remains one of the most severe, difficult to treat mental illnesses known.

The finding, reported to the American Psychiatric Association, may open a long-closed door on the eventual development of an effective treatment and possible cure for schizophrenia, which afflicts an estimated 3 million Americans.

The disease, often striking the young and almost invariably requiring hospitalization, has baffled psychiatrists for years. It severely disturbs thought processes and interaction with other and its victims often acquire peculiar beliefs, delusions and hallucinations.

Drs. Jacques S. Gottlieb, a psychiatrist, and Charles E. Froman, a biochemist, said their group at the Lafayette Clinic and Wayne State University in Detroit has discovered that an enzyme deficiency in the brains of schizophrenic patients appears to upset the brain's metabolism. It leads to abnormal production of chemicals that are known to have a mentally disturbing effect.

The Wayne State group found that an enzyme, which they named Anti-S Protein, appears to work in the limbic and lower stem portion of the brain. The enzyme causes a chemical called tryptophan to flood certain areas of the brain, producing excessive amounts of other chemicals called methylated idoleamines.

These substances, some of which have been isolated from plants, are known to have a mind-altering effect.

Because of the enzyme shortage, "an excessive production of methylated idoleamines becomes possible and, therefore, probably responsible for the symptoms of the disorder (schizophrenia)," Gottlieb and Froman said in their paper.

The Anti-S Protein enzyme is easily isolated from beef brains the Wayne State scientists now are stockpiling the chemical and launching an intensive research program to meet U.S. Food and Drug Administration regulations requiring proof through animal studies that the enzyme has no harmful side effects. If none are found, clinical trials with schizophrenic patients will begin.

The scientists will seek to learn if increasing the amount of Anti-S Protein in the schizophrenic brain will restore the delicate biochemical balance, reducing the disease or perhaps even curing it. The studies could take five years, Gottlieb said.

Paris Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam called off the Vietnam peace talks indefinitely Thursday because of what was termed "a lack of progress in every available channel."

The chief U.S. delegate, William J. Porter, used the words "in every available channel" in announcing the suspension of the conference. He apparently referred to secret talks with the Communists as well as the semipublic meetings.

U.S. officials in Washington indicated later that unsuccessful private talks were held with the North Vietnamese in recent days.

There were rumors in Paris that a high American official, possibly Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser, had met with North Vietnamese politburo member Le Duc Tho, who arrived Sunday from Hanoi. The two had met fruitlessly in Paris several times last year.

Thursday's 149th plenary session quickly became marred in usual charges and countercharges. The United States said the North Vietnamese did not answer the U.S. demand made last week for discussion of measures to end the North Vietnamese invasion of the south.

Porter made the demand on returning to the talks after he had suspended them for five weeks.

South Viets Counterattack Reopen Vital Highway 14

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers and infantrymen Friday reopened vital Highway 14 in the central highlands for convoys to carry badly needed military supplies to threatened Kontum City, spokesmen said.

The troops met little resistance in this first government counterattack since the North Vietnamese offensive began March 30.

The mountains overlooking the Chu Pao pass on Highway 14 were softened up by scores of U.S. bombers using specially designed weapons to knock out North Vietnamese troops hiding in caves. It was an all-out priority air campaign coordinated by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, Commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, and Gen. John Vogt, commander of the 7th Air Force, sources said.

Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported from Pleiku that the ridge line overlooking the highway was occupied by South Vietnamese infantry reinforcements.

South Vietnamese paratroopers cleared a 13-mile stretch of the highway by dawn Friday after launching the operation at noon Thursday.

Spokesmen said the only South Vietnamese casualties were six men wounded. Initial reports said 40 North Vietnamese troops were killed, but this was revised downward to seven.

In a day that saw a relative lull on the fighting fronts, there were these other developments:

—The Viet Cong's clandestine radio said a "revolutionary administration" had been set up in Quang Tri, the northernmost provincial capital that fell to the North Vietnamese Monday.

—The United States and South Vietnam began a program aimed at reversing the series of defeats, and the first reconditioned U.S. tanks were delivered to the northern front to replace losses. Washington announced more warplanes are being sent to Southeast Asia, bringing to around 300 the number sent to aid the South Vietnamese since early April. This will bring the total of U.S. land-based and carrier-based strike planes in the area to more than 800.

The South Vietnamese counterattack in the central highlands was designed to end the isolation by road of Kontum, the provincial capital that is expected to be the first objective when the enemy's expected big push comes there.

From Pleiku, Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported that the paratroopers engaged the enemy shortly after pouring out of their helicopters eight miles south of Kontum and 19 miles north of Pleiku. The fighting still was going on at nightfall.

A team of Pentagon experts arrived to look into the problem of supplying the South Vietnamese with the weapons to meet the North Vietnamese, who have an arsenal of Soviet-made arms.

It is expected that enemy forces, probably regrouping and resupplying, will assault Hue, 32 miles to the south in the next several days.

The city of Hue itself was seeking to restore a semblance of order after being flooded by refugees and an influx of disorganized government troops beaten in the Quang Tri fighting. There were scattered incidents of looting and violence.

Military police moved to round up stragglers and deal with enemy agents infiltrated into the city.

Arrange GOP Site Switch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The arrangements committee of the Republican National Committee recommended unanimously Thursday that the 1972 Republican convention be switched from San Diego, Calif., to Miami Beach, Fla.

The arrangement group's resolution will go Friday to a special meeting of the GOP national committee, where the switch in convention sites is expected to be formalized.

The Miami Beach bid, formally presented Thursday, offers the Republicans rent-free use of the convention center for the three-day meeting Aug. 21 to 23. The Democratic National Convention will be at the same place starting July 10.

Richard L. Herman, vice chairman of the arrangements committee, urged the panel to accept the Miami Beach invitation, which he has been negotiating since problems arose with the San Diego site a month ago.

Golda Meir Begins Talks In Romania

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel flew to Communist Romania Thursday for three days of talks on the Middle East conflict, trade and Jewish immigration problems.

She was the first Israeli government leader to visit a Communist country.

Romania is the only Communist country that has maintained full trade and diplomatic links with Israel since the 1967 Middle East war. President Nicolae Ceausescu's invitation to Mrs. Meir was a spectacular reassertion of his refusal to follow the Moscow line.

Mrs. Meir was scheduled to have at least five hours of talks Friday with Ceausescu. Israeli and Romanian officials denied he intended to mediate in the Middle East crisis, but conceded the Arab-Israeli deadlock would be the main item of the discussions.

An Egyptian Embassy spokesman said the visit was "a matter of total indifference" to Egypt, but Soviet diplomat maintained a prudent silence. Ceausescu was expected to give the Russian leaders a full account of his discussions with Mr. Meir.

The Israeli leader conferred for more than two hours with Prime Minister Ion George Maurer on bilateral questions.

An Israeli delegation spokesman said their conversation took place "in a very friendly atmosphere." There was no immediate comment on the meeting from Romanian sources.

U.S. Raises Viet Air Power Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will soon fly another 72 F4 Phantom fighter bombers to Southeast Asia, a move that may foreshadow an intensified bombing campaign aimed at stopping the North Vietnamese offensive.

Pentagon spokesman J. W. Friedheim announced Thursday that some additional land-based U.S. warplanes would be sent to the war zone.

While Friedheim gave no details, other defense sources said four squadrons of F4s would leave Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, N.M., for Thailand.

Announcement of this significant boost in U.S. air power in Southeast Asia came soon after peace negotiations in Paris broke down again amid a battlefield crisis in South Vietnam.

Friedheim did not link these events to the new air buildup, but described the reinforcement as part of "an over-all plan to make sure Gen. (Creighton W.) Abrams has available to him all the air and naval assets he needs to protect remaining troops, to assist South Vietnamese in repelling the offensive."

The additional war planes will increase to about 300 the number of U.S. fighter-bombers and bombers ordered to South Vietnam, Thailand and Guam since early April when the North Vietnamese assault was gathering speed.

Over-all, the action will boost U.S. land-based and carrier-based planes in the war theater to more than 800.

Friedheim mentioned that some additional naval ships are on their way to Southeast Asia.

Since these movements have already been disclosed in recent weeks, Friedheim's references to them indicated no new departures are planned at least for the time being.

A fifth aircraft carrier arrived off Vietnam this week, along with escorting destroyers. This raised to about 60 the number of American naval vessels operating in those waters, at least equalling the number there in 1968 at the Vietnam war's peak.

The Pentagon Wednesday sent a high-level mission South Vietnam to determine what additional military aid Saigon forces need.

Friedheim confirmed the rival in South Vietnam of a giant C5 transport plane carrying three M-48 medium tanks to place some of South Vietnamese tank losses.

Fifty Miners Still Missing; Rescuers Continue To Search

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — Rescue workers found eight more bodies in the Sunshine Silver Mine Thursday, bringing the known death toll in Tuesday's flash fire to 32, a company official said.

The 80-man crew cleared smoke and gas from Shaft No. 10 to reach a two-story-high underground room which houses the machinery for a vital hoist.

It was there that the additional victims were found, said Marvin Chase, general manager of western operations for Sunshine Mining Co.

The hoist room is at 3,100 feet and mine officials calculated that the remaining 50 missing miners are much deeper, at 4, 600 or below.

The elevator shaft was not useable for the trip down because it still was not cleared of smoke and gas, they said.

Chase earlier had expressed optimism that "some" of the miners were alive and could be saved. But he was cautious in his brief statement by saying only that "at least eight more bodies" had been discovered.

There was no immediate indication how long it would take to activate the hoist for the rescue journey.

A toll of 24 had been established until the rescue squad, fighting smoke and gas along the main shaft, managed to erect timber bulkheads all the way to the hoist room. Quick action saved 108 others shortly after the fire broke out.

Mine officials reported the smoke levels had dwindled so much that the fire, possibly started by welding equipment or a short circuit, may have burned itself out.

They said consumption of air pumped down the mine could mean the miners were tapping it from the network of tubes. Wives and families of the men clustered around the mine face, near exhaustion from an almost constant 48-hour vigil.

President Nixon messaged Kellogg Mayor Roger Fulton his "deepest sympathy" and pledged full federal assistance.

Wallace Grabs Victory In Tennessee Primary

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace won his first primary victory outside the Deep South on Thursday with a runaway 3-1 margin over 10 Democratic rivals in Tennessee's first presidential primary.

An antibusing amendment which helped Wallace's voter turnout carried by an even heavier edge, taking some 80 per cent of the vote despite some confusion at the polls over the wording of the referendum.

President Nixon handily won the Republican primary in which there was heavy crossover voting by the Tennessee GOP in the Democratic election, which swelled Wallace's advantage.

The Tennessee victory gave Wallace at least 44 of the state's 49 Democratic National Convention delegates. He appeared to be winning the rest.

The delegate commitments put Wallace in third place among the Democratic contenders with a total of 157.

Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota remains the leader in delegates nationally with 265½, won in 19 states. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota has 188.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, who has withdrawn from primary campaigning, has 129½. Humphrey, who did not campaign personally in Tennessee but had some organized support, was running in second place with 16 per cent of the vote, to Wallace's 69.

Humphrey was far ahead of McGovern, in third place, and Muskie, in fourth. McGovern also bypassed the state personally but had organized support, mostly from student groups. Muskie dropped out of all primary campaigning last week. Tennessee was Wallace's third primary victory and was especially significant because it was in a border state. His earlier wins were in Florida on March 14 and his home state of Alabama on Tuesday.

It also was his first voter majority outside Alabama. He won in Florida with 42 per cent of the vote. His next best showings were 21 per cent in Wisconsin and 21 per cent in Pennsylvania, both second-place finishes.

With 59 per cent of the state's 2,423 precincts counted, this was the breakdown:

Wallace 129,830 votes, or 70 per cent.

Humphrey 28,647 votes or 15 per cent.

McGovern 13,828 votes or 7 per cent.

Muskie 5,133 votes, or 3 per cent.

Trailing far back were the others on the ballot: Sens. (Turn To Page Eighteen)

Senate Abolishes War III, Kind Of

An interesting feature of the war powers bill passed by the U.S. Senate and sent to an uncertain fate in the House is that it effectively abolishes World War III, on paper, at any rate.

The bill forbids the president to make war without congressional authorization, except to repel a sudden attack against the United States or its military forces, and then only for 30 days until Congress decides whether or not a state of war exists.

"At what point does the state of affairs which flows from sudden attack become war?" asked New York Republican Jacob Javits, during floor debate of the measure.

"That is the pivot of the issue. What happens when the president, as Commander-in-Chief, 'repels a sudden attack' and that leads us into war, triggering the war powers of Congress? The Constitution, characteristically, is silent. So we have chosen the 30-day test in that regard. We have no illusions that it is a perfect answer but we believe that it is the best a group of men... could develop as a test of automaticity..."

Since any attack against the United States serious enough to trigger the war powers of Congress would be unlikely to involve anything less than the full panoply of nuclear weapons in the modern arsenal, and since the experts say such a nuclear conflict would be over in closer to 30 hours than 30 days, World War III, by definition, can't happen.

Of course, Congress could later declare that there HAD been a state of war—if anyone was left to care.

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam's drive below the demilitarized zone is expected to climax at Hue in the next week or 10 days and the South Vietnamese will be hard put to hold the ancient city, according to U.S. officials.

Small groups of North Vietnamese troops already are moving toward firebases Birmingham and King just outside Hue and other, larger elements are reported preparing for attack, the sources said.

One military expert said elements of Hanoi's 304th Division are moving south to join other units along a very good road but it will probably be up to 10 days before they are ready to drive on Hue.

The officials said a "plus for the enemy is that there is no defensible area between Quang Tri and Hue." The Perfume River, which he said would make a good defensive line, is south of the city. "There is a real danger Hue could fall," one source said. On the other hand, the officials said, the North Vietnamese have taken a pounding from U.S. air raids. "They've obviously been hurt," one source said, adding that thousands of wounded enemy troops have been seen being evacuated north.

There has been maximum use of American air power, a military source said, "and the strikes have been effective." He added that the weather is expected to be good for the future, which is a plus for the Southern forces.

In discussing Monday's loss of Quang Tri city, the first provincial capital to fall to Hanoi's troops, officials said there have been conflicting intelligence reports.

First, it was said South Vietnamese forces surrendered in large numbers and left behind 30 pieces of artillery and 17 tanks that had to be destroyed by tactical air strikes.

Another report, however, ascribed the disintegration of troop units to commanders ordering their forces to break up and attempt to infiltrate enemy lines. This report, the officials said, also disputed that any major equipment had to be left and destroyed.

At this point, "we don't know which one to believe," a military source said.

In sizing up the expected battle for Hue, the officials said there is a stand-off as far as available forces are concerned.

The South Vietnamese 1st Division, one of Saigon's best, has not been committed in previous fighting, "and wisely so," one American source said.

He also stated the South Vietnamese have a marine brigade available as well as airborne units and some "fairly decent" regional forces.

On Hanoi's side, the officials said, the 304th probably will be used, although it has been involved in heavy fighting, and will be joined by the 325th North Vietnamese Division.

This unit, like the South Vietnamese 1st, has not been committed and is sitting on the other side of the DMZ, the last of Hanoi's regular divisions still in the North.

However, an official said, the 325th has been hit hard by air raids and its ability remains a questionable factor.

But the key problem and the one that most distresses U.S. experts is the lack of defensible ground to Hue's north and west.

Although officials say privately they are concerned about Hue and South Vietnam's over-all ability to keep up its defenses, the public stance is more optimistic.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers Tuesday praised what he said was the courageous performance of Saigon's troops.

And State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray added at his regular briefing with newsmen that, while the North Vietnamese are expected to capture one or more provincial capitals, the Southerners will win some battles as well.

He said it still is too early to say that President Nixon's Vietnamization program is either a failure or a success.

Communication

To the Editor:

As I read your communication of April 27, I was at first very much amused. Then as I reread the letter I became upset because I came to the realization that he really believes what he wrote.

To pick just a few phrases, "One of their first targets is the church," "We allow it (Communism) to flourish at home and turn our cities into jungles," "Has the rot set in so soon?" "We allow rabble to stir up riots and every kind of insurrection."

This writer has added up all of the faults and misgivings of a democratic society and concluded that the Communists are behind it all. The Communists, the unseen force, the omnipresent overpowering force which is out to get you, me, and every free person everywhere.

This is paranoia at its best. An excellent example of the type of thinking which flourished in the era of McCarthyism in the Fifties. A period which is spoken of with a shudder by anyone who really believes in our Constitution and freedom.

To jump from one paragraph stating a belief in God to another saying why aren't we allowed to "go in and win in Vietnam," is so absurd, he seems to be saying that all true Christian Americans ought to rush out and "kill a Commie for Jesus." You might just as well go out and rape someone in the name of virginity.

Our anonymous writer also shows an apparent concern for our national security. Does he really fear an invasion of some sort? The only invasion on the United States I can think of is when the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock.

Of course our writer believes every riot and insurrection is Communist oriented. It would never occur to him that maybe, just maybe one demonstration was started due to a legitimate grievance. Did it also occur to him that just as often as not the real trouble begins when overzealous protectors of our freedom (such as our writer) try to interrupt a peaceful demonstration?

In reference to admitted criminals going scot-free, he probably means the people who were released because their constitutional rights were violated. Doesn't he realize that this is the same constitution that was written by "those men who put God first?"

Myself, I would rather see ten guilty men "go scot-free" than to see even one innocent man convicted because he was denied the rights that the constitution guarantees him.

Turning to the humorous side, the appeal to all thinking persons was hilarious. He believes he is so absolutely inerrant that a mere hardheaded, excuse Freudian slip, hard look at the facts will bear him out.

The only obvious failure of "the American way of life" apparent is that a high quality education is not given to everyone.

In conclusion, I can only say that the only way we can ever keep a free America is to ignore people like our enlightened, self-appointed guardian of our freedoms who want to oppress and silence people of differing opinions in the name of freedom and democracy.

Nixon Aim: Boom By Election Day

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—It is not generally realized just how very determined President Nixon is to have a booming economy by Nov. 7, 1972.

But his urgency in speeding economic recovery is leading him into actions which could boomerang greatly in the next several years.

At the Pentagon, at Health Education and Welfare, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and other large-budget agencies, the bureaucrats who oversee what is bought, and when, have been given orders to manage their spending so that a maximum amount of money is pumped into the economy in the months just ahead.

The plan is, further, that some considerable spending which would normally take place in November, December and January will be moved forward where possible to hit in the early fall.

Where earlier spending is not feasible, attempts are being made to signal future contracts and future spending in ways that are sufficiently concrete to encourage industry to gear up before November, expanding employment and facilities and increasing inventories.

Behind the scenes, all stops are out in the White House effort to convince the stubbornly independent Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board that the supply of money must be regularly increased at a pace great enough to sustain strong economic growth in the months ahead.

The budget deficit for fiscal 1972 and that projected for fiscal 1973 are at levels which almost insure unsettling inflationary pressures of the same type created by President Johnson's unbalanced war budgets. These pressures, economic analysts now say, brought on the inflation of the present and past several years.

Neither President Nixon nor the Congress apparently have the strength of will to decide on what is not urgently essential in the current budgets and determinedly chop out the deadwood.

The distortions of these policies are already appearing. Despite the overly high unemployment rate, there are indications that employers have been taking on men and women at a faster rate than their business justifies—in anticipation. This could mean slower-than-normal increases in employment at later stages in the recovery.

A money supply arbitrarily increased at a too-rapid pace—combined with heavy federal spending and other artificial stimulants—could effectively destroy the most stringent attempts at price control.

If the inflation pressures increase in the manner outlined above, the price controllers can get as tough as they please, but prices will have a way of rising nevertheless.

This reporter has talked at length with economists who believe that under the best of circumstances we are boxed in permanently at best with an inflation rate of three to four per cent a year. Pressures of the type outlined above could drive those rates up well above that range for the years just ahead.

Dear Ann Landers: I was shocked to read in the Toronto Star that you disgraced yourself in front of 8,632 people. It seems you were the 2 to 1 favorite and finished third.

By this time you have decided I am nuts, but let me explain. Ann Landers is the name of a three-year-old filly who made her debut recently at Greenwood Raceway. Everyone was excited about her but she was nosed out of second place by Sailing Chance. Victoria Lomac came in first.

The jockey, George Zirnis, claims Ann had a bad position. He says she's sure to be a great racehorse when she gets a few breaks. George purchased Ann after she recovered from a cough and virus.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Claire Robertson, named the filly Ann Landers because she loves your column. I hope you're not insulted. You have a great many fans in Canada, and we wouldn't want to be disrespectful. Sincerely yours — Winner's Circle

Dear Winner: Insulted? Not on your maple-leaf, Honey. I'm honored. Incidentally, you'll be glad to know I've stopped coughing and they say I have a bright future.

Dear Ann Landers: May I pass on some information that might save a life?

I was having dinner at a restaurant and I swallowed a large slice of ham. I was unable to breathe and couldn't say a word. I began to panic, scared out of my wits. My dinner companion shouted, "Stand up real tall! Reach for the ceiling! Try to take a deep breath, then bend over and touch the floor." Sure enough, the chunk of ham fell out — and so did my dentures.

Embarrassed? Not a bit. I was glad to be alive. — Mrs. T.A.G. of L.A.

Dear Mrs. T.A.G.: Hundreds of people die every year because they don't know what to do when a large piece of meat becomes lodged in the throat. My Harvard Medical School consultants say the best thing to do is turn the victim upside down and pound on his back. If the meat doesn't become dislodged promptly and the person begins to turn blue, a tracheotomy should be performed at once.

Dear Ann Landers: Our family has been invited to a large formal wedding. The bride and groom have been openly living together for over a year.

I have expressed my objections to this way of life many times and now I feel I would be condoning it if I attended the wedding. What should I say in my note declining the invitation? Should I send a wedding gift? The parents of both the bride and groom are fine people and long-time friends. — California Conflict

Dear Con: I do not sanction pre-marital shacking up and have said so in print and from the speaker's platform. But I have attended the weddings of couples who lived together because their parents were friends of mine. The lifestyle of the bride and groom is none of my business. I hope you will reconsider and not bite off your nose to spite your face.

Dear Ann Landers: I had to laugh when I read the beef from the Wife to the Other Woman who wrote, "I spend household money on the obstetrician while you vacation in Acapulco..." The reason I laughed is because I am the Other Woman who just returned from Acapulco where I also spent money on an obstetrician. The abortion cost ME $500 plus plane fare from Des Moines. Speaking of languages, Francis Bacon, Elizabethan public official and essayist, didn't have much belief in the durability of his native tongue. He translated some of his essays into Latin because he doubted they would survive if printed only in English.

Be Careful Removing Glue From Leather

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I had a problem similar to Frances' except that I spilled some glue on a pair of shoes instead of on a leather-topped table as she did. With a steady hand and single-edged razor blade she should be able to carefully remove it without harm to her table top. When the glue is removed, saddle soap might be used. — BRUCE

DEAR POLLY — Frances might use a small amount of nail polish remover to get the glue off her leather-topped table. Be careful not to drop it anywhere but on the glue spot.

— JEANETTE

DEAR READERS—Leather-topped tables may have different finishes and those with a very shiny, mirrorlike gloss may be slightly dulled from any spot-removal treatment. If the color should lighten, paste wax shoe polish, the color of the leather, might be used on ways something left to be picked up, but does the whole toy

Polly's Problem
 DEAR POLLY — How can I get mildew out of a new Morocco leather hassock (saddle soap did not work) and a used canvas umbrella? — HELEN

Senate Approves Bill To Set Coroner Pay

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Senate has approved a bill which many persons hope will rekindle interest in the office of coroner in a number of small counties throughout Illinois.

Senate sponsor of H.B. 3736, Sen. Clifford B. Latherow, R-Carthage, declared that passage of the measure represents "a major victory for those who view the office of coroner as a vital part of the system of checks and balances within county government."

The bill would permit counties with populations under 50,000 to compensate coroners at the rate of $100 for each individual death case. Compensation would be limited to $500 in cases involving multiple deaths.

Illinois law stipulates that coroners in counties of 14,000 persons or less must be paid at least $8,500. Counties with populations between 14,000 and 30,000 must pay coroners at least $9,000, and those between 30,000 and 60,000 must pay $10,000.

However, a number of small counties have found through experience that $8,500 or more is too great a burden for such a county official.

The new Illinois constitution permits any county to eliminate certain public officers — including coroner — by a county-wide referendum.

To date the office of coroner has been abolished by popular referendum in the following 8 counties: Stark, Scott, Schuyler, Pike, Platt, Brown, Bureau, and Putnam.

"The office of coroner has the potential for attracting conscientious individuals who are seeking solid reputations without the added incentive of a lucrative salary," Latherow said.

Latherow added that his bill gives county boards and commissioners the option to continue to use the present statutory salary level rather than the per case basis.

Dr. Dunseth Named To Airport Board

Dr. Ward R. Dunseth was named Thursday to a position on the Jacksonville Airport Authority by the board of county commissioners. Dr. Dunseth is a pilot of both a helicopter and fixed wing aircraft and has a keen interest in aviation.

His appointment will be for an unexpired term vacated by John E. Linebaugh who resigned because of business interests in Florida.

Dunseth's term will run through 1975. Under terms of the new state constitution, the commissioners appoint several members to the airport authority. Previously, the county judge made the appointments. Some appointments are also made by the mayor and city council for the City of Jacksonville.

Freeze Raises Protest Of Cass Court Deputies

BEARDSTOWN — Cass County Clerk H. Gus Carls was protesting business in his office in Virginia alone Monday and the result of refusal by his court deputies to work when informed of a "stop order" had been declared on their salary increases.

Carls said he was advised by State's Attorney Walter Farrand against paying the salary boost which had not been approved by the board of supervisors.

The county clerk held that he did not have to get approval for an increase for deputies when it was within the wage board limits and could be provided under the present budget.

Attorney Glen Colburn advised county clerk employees to "reject" a decision by the new county board Monday to pay the old rate and make a study of the increase.

The increase went into effect March 1 and the employees reportedly received pay at the new rate until April 15.

Carls said that as a result of the situation work could not be done and predicted taxing bodies may have to wait for funds.

Dog Problem
The perennial dog problem was discussed at the city council meeting again Tuesday night and Mayor Sumney advised citizens who are kept awake by barking animals or annoyed by dogs running at large to call police.

He said that the squad car will be dispatched to the scene of the disturbance and dog owners will be required to remedy the situation.

Beardstown auxiliary policemen are acting as dog catchers besides their regular jobs. Regular dog catchers have not lasted long here.

Councilmen referred to a committee the purchase of a new truck for the street department. Bids from "Tillitt" and Modern Chevrolet on a two-ton truck were considered. Alderman Ralston suggested that perhaps a one-ton truck would suffice. Conference on the problem will be held.

The cemetery committee suggested limitation on flower containers on graves at the City cemetery. There were some objections from citizens attending the meeting. Action has been deferred and an ordinance will be considered. The limitation would make the number of containers one per grave between April 15 and Oct. 15.

Alderman Beatty reported the well at Third and Sangamon is back in use although not to full capacity. The well at 6th and Jefferson has four feet of sand in it, creating a problem.

Club Sponsors Bike Rally For Sunday, May 7

The Easy Riders Bicycle Club invites bicyclists of all ages to participate in the Bicycle Rally Sunday, May 7, as a climax to Bikeology Week. Bicyclists living in the west part of Jacksonville, and others who wish to, will meet at Duncan Park at 1:30 p.m. to ride to Central Park, where they will join bicyclists from all over the city to form a parade to Nichols Park. The parade, led by Representative Tom Rose and officers of the club, and with a police escort, will go on East State Street to Clay, on South Clay to Vandavia Road, and on to the Park.

At the Park, one road will be blocked off for games and races conducted by the YMCA for all to enjoy. Participants in the parade are invited to bring a picnic lunch for their pleasure after the games.

All bicycle owners are reminded that there will be a bicycle check lane at MacMurray College near the Student Union, on Saturday, May 6, starting at 9:30 a.m. Bicycles will be checked for safe condition and registered by the Police Department. Registration of serial numbers facilitates the return of lost bicycles. There is a 25-cent fee for registration.

Members of the Easy Riders Club who wish a longer ride on Sunday will meet at Duncan Park at 6 a.m. to ride toward Chatham. The starting route will be down West State Street to Central Park, and South Main to Martin Avenue. Return will be well before time for the Rally.

Many Swedes Shun Marriage Coming Wed

By EDWIN A. SHANKE
Associated Press Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP) — With many young Swedes shunning marriage, nearly a fifth of Sweden's babies are arriving out of wedlock.

A "unique" decline in Swedish marriages is pinpointed by Erland Hofsten, head of the state statistical bureau. Nothing like it is happening elsewhere in Europe, he says.

From a high point of 61,101 marriages in 1966, the number tumbled to 39,000 last year—a 35 per cent nosedive within five years and the lowest figures in more than a century.

Hofsten says the decrease in weddings is most pronounced and significant at the ages when marriage normally is most usual—23-24 for women and 25-26 for men.

Illegitimacy rose from 10 per cent of all births in 1960 to 18 per cent in 1970, a record figure.

Why the decline in marriages? For lack of a clear-cut answer a lot of theories are put about.

In general, more and more couples are deciding simply to live together.

"Our love is so strong there's no need for a ring or a marriage certificate," says one couple.

Hofsten opined that the change in social customs "could more easily win ground in Sweden because free associations and illegitimate children have always been accepted in a manner which isn't usual in other countries."

Ingrid Sundberg, a moderate party member of parliament active in family affairs, found the development disturbing. "Children need security," she observed.

Hofsten saw the fact that women's economic liberation has advanced farther in Sweden than many other countries as an element in the pattern.

A gradual weakening in Christian belief and religious devotion is being cited among church leaders.

A state commission has been working almost three years on proposals to change family laws—possibly by making marriage simply a form of registration and by easing divorce.

Now every third marriage breaks up within 10 years. Divorces rose from 8,958 in 1960 to 12,238 in 1969. The most common grounds are adultery, alcoholism, criminal conviction, or mental disease.

One suggestion under study: if the marriage partners agree an immediate divorce should be possible. If the couple has children, or if one partner objects, there would be a time for reflection—perhaps up to six months.

Under this thinking the guilty-party concept would end.

'GETAWAY' BEFORE ROB-BERY

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Ben Johnson, Oscar nominee for "The Last Picture Show," completed a top role in "The Getaway" with Steve McQueen and moved on to Mexico to appear with John Wayne in "The Train Robbers."

DEAN BUCHANAN of Roodhouse found this red mushroom Monday and had it weighed at Mason's Grocery at Murfreesville. The specimen weighed 14 ounces.

VIRGINIA — A number of articles with estimated value of three thousand dollars have been received to date for giving away at the annual Virginia Bar-B-Q June 16-17-18 on the town square.

The planning committee is holding sessions periodically. The April 24th session was at the Don Cagwin office with Wendell Briggs and Kathleen Cagwin presiding.

Roy French, in charge of the Antique Auto Show, reports a second "brick street tour" is planned for the auto drivers. A highlight of the tour will be visiting the lovely home of Mrs. Alice Dour and Mary K. Derick. The autos will be displayed at the Petefish, Skiles and Co. Bank's parking lot on Saturday, June 17, at 2:30 p.m.

Prizes: Bill Knight is in charge of donations toward awarding of prizes. The following articles, which will be given away Sunday evening, June 18, have been received to date:

Five hundred dollar U.S. saving bond; portable Kitchen Aid dishwasher; stereo tape player — AF-AM radio; half side beef; patio lawn set; wrought iron table with two matching chairs.

A 16-foot bass boat with 10 hp Mercury motor and trailer; tractor type riding lawnmower; chest model 15.5 cu. ft. deep-freeze.

Donations are being received and other items for the Bar-B-Q effort will be receiving the necessary materials.

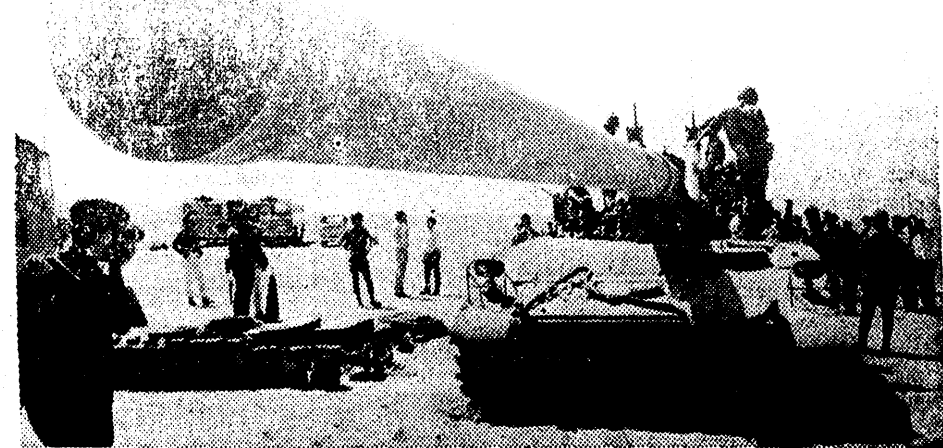

The concession committee is still accepting requests for space at the Bar-B-Q, received after a written request with fifteen dollar payment to the committee. The cost covers the space for occupation the celebration dates, June 16-18.

Last year two residents, Norman Leonhard and Pete Hudson donated pigs for the Bar-B-Q and hopefully other generous Virginia residents will repeat the gesture. Anyone willing should contact Wendell Briggs.

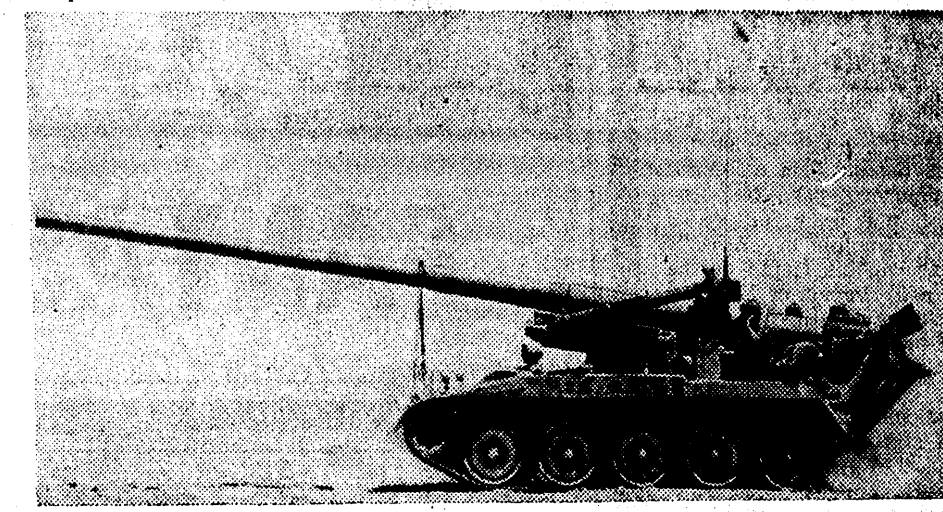

Mrs. W. S. Hardwick is chairman for the Flea Market project. Space for this enterprise remains as last year, five dollars per day for a space 8x8 foot, with exhibitor providing own tables. Hours for the market are 4 to 10 p.m. Friday, the 16th; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, the 17th and 12 noon to 9 p.m. on Sunday, the 18th. Contact Mrs. Hardwick if interested in using the space.

The committee will have another meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 8th.

Plight Of Appalachia's Poor

By FRANK T. CSONGOS
HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (UPI)
—In the industrial cities north of here—Dayton, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Detroit—there is a grim joke about the poor of Appalachia. It goes like this:

"When a kid graduates from high school down there, he isn't given a diploma, he gets a road map."

The implication is Appalachia is so poor the young people can't find jobs in West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and other states along the Appalachian ridges, so they head north.

The "joke" has more than a grain of truth in it. Many do head north, sometimes whole families. But what happens to them then?

What such people, especially the unskilled and largely uneducated, face when they head for the cities hoping for work is the question examined in a unique 12-part, half-hour per program television series (title: "Handful of Ashes") being shown this month on the educational channel of Marshall University (WMUL-TV). The project was financed by the Corporation of Public Broadcasting.

Fictional Family Shown
"The aim of our show is to portray the problems of the poor of Appalachia," said producer and co-script writer Margaret Johnson. "Our fictional family is trying, at first, to make a living in Appalachia of persons and problems found where there are no jobs in the mountains. They are available. They are uneducated, unskilled, desperate. Due to their lack of experience, education and training, they are forced to accept the services of the Department of Welfare."

The family is not meant to be typical of Appalachian families, but rather a composite of types

Portrayed is the "Adkins" family. The father, Alton Adkins, is 50, semi-literate, alcoholic. He has been unem-

There are three children. Will, the elder son, dreams of becoming a movie star. Thomas, the younger boy, wants to finish high school and go to college. Leona May, the teen-aged daughter, is a pretty, confused innocent.

This is the family that heads for the city because "we can't

Adkins is still on welfare. "He cannot fill out an employment form, let alone get a job," Mrs. Johnson said. "But he can get some help, so we have a chance to introduce types of services available such as work training programs, food stamp utilization, counseling."

Even with help, Alton Adkins is unable to make the transition from "the peaceful hills of Appalachia" to the city. The

At a point in the series a narrator observes: "There are dreams here shattered along those worn streets like tiny bits of broken glass that gleam and sparkle in the afternoon sun. We can strike it rich one day and set the city ablaze, or failing, silently pass through..."

There is no striking it rich for the Adkins family and finally, defeated, they return home. Son Will, writing the "Adkins Family Ballad," laments:

"From friendly mountains many went
To crowded city dwelling

"I'm trapped, lost, a stranger in a strange land
And all the roses I pick
Are a handful of ashes in my hand."

The message, apparently, though it is not specifically Appalachia need to be solved in stated, is that the problems of Appalachia.

New Ways To Shape Sugar Cookies

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Old-time sugar cookies were always made from a dough that had to be rolled out and cut. But nowadays sugar cookies are made other ways.

One way is to shape the dough into small balls and flatten them with a greased custard cup dipped in sugar. Placing the sugar in a pie plate works well for dipping the custard cup.

These cookies have refreshing lemon flavor because they call for lemon juice and grated lemon rind. Grate the rind as fine as possible; two medium-size lemons will yield the two teaspoons called for. In grating, remove only the outer yellow part of the rind, not the white membrane underneath.

Because these cookies are on the delicate side, remove them from the cookie sheet as soon as they are firm enough to be moved. If they are allowed to cool completely on the cookie sheet, they will stick and break when removed.

LEMON SUGAR COOKIES
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup quick-cooking oats

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder and salt.

In a large mixing bowl cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in lemon rind and lemon juice. Gradually stir in sifted flour mixture blending well. Stir in oats. Thoroughly chill dough.

For each cookie, roll 1 level tablespoon of dough into a ball. Place balls, several inches apart, on greased cookie sheets. Using a custard cup that has been greased and dipped in sugar, flatten each ball to 1/2-inch thickness.

Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until lightly browned around edges—8 to 10 minutes. Cool 1 minute, then carefully remove from cookie sheets with a wide spatula. Let cool on wire racks. Store in an airtight container.

Makes 6 dozen.

Milwaukee Has Unique 'Drunk Cure' Program

Editor's Note: Elliot L. Richardson, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, says alcohol is "the most abused drug in the United States today," and the National Institute of Alcoholism and Alcoholism calls alcoholism the "most treatable untreated disease in the United States." Here is a report on one community effort to do something about it.

By MARTHA FRANCIS. MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Sam is an alcoholic, one of the more than nine million alcoholics in the United States. But he is different from many of them. He is working hard at his job. He is active in his church. He is respected by his family and friends. It wasn't always this way.

In 1969, when he was 47, as Sam tells it, he felt he was "the loneliest man in the world."

Now—it's been two years since he's had a drink. "I'm living like a man again. Before that I was an animal."

Sam's story—and that of many Milwaukeeans and others around the United States—is that of the De Paul Rehabilitation Hospital and a unique program that involves local industry.

De Paul was started by Archbishop Cardinal Meyer in 1958 as a halfway house for homeless men. It could accommodate 45 then. Today it has grown to be a comprehensive rehabilitation center with inpatient facilities for 102 and outpatient facilities for many more. It provides hospital care, diagnostic evaluation, and treatment and rehabilitation services for any adult suffering from the disease of alcoholism. The patient, his family and his employer are all integral parts of the treatment.

Very few of the patients—a total of some 2,500 a year—are voluntary. Joseph De Rosa, De Paul's rehabilitation director, says that most are referred by agencies, physicians and the clergy, with the largest single referral by industry.

The High Cost of Alcoholism According to a survey by the National Council on Alcoholism, drinking costs business and industry an estimated $4.2 billion annually. About 5.3 per cent of the nation's work force is alcoholic.

A typical Milwaukee example of an industrial alcoholism program is that of the Allen-Bradley Co., where Sam—not his real name—is employed.

The firm has a three-person team headed by Mrs. Myrian Meyers, director of nursing. Also on the team are Ted Hutton, the company's personnel director, and Mr. K., an alcoholic employee who acts as alcoholism counselor to the firm.

Once an employee has been identified as an alcoholic—usually through a change of work habits, attitude and through various trips to the medical department—Hutton becomes involved.

"We tell him what the company position is and let the employee know that his job will be protected if he will actively seek help," Hutton said.

Mr. K. is then brought in as an "identifying factor" and as sort of an alter-ego to the patient. He takes the patient to De Paul, advises him, and then helps out with his family life and any financial problems.

"If the washing machine breaks down or if a child needs help because of school problems, the wife is expected to call Mr. K. not her husband," Mrs. Meyers said.

"It wouldn't do any good if

Sam said he realized he was "sick" in 1966. He had problems with his legs and had trouble walking. His doctor gave Sam some pills.

"They were no help. I just kept on drinking," Sam said. "I didn't realize then I was sick. Liquor makes you insane. It's a powerful drug and I was obsessed with it."

Sam said there was one time he tried to stop and succeeded for 16 days. A retirement party was his downfall.

"After two drinks I went back to work and that evening I couldn't wait to get back to the tavern. I got so loaded I didn't know what I was doing."

A Blunt Approach After his absenteeism and other failures on the job, the company team confronted him.

"They threw a booklet in front of me with a skeleton and two cross bones on it—alcoholism," Sam said. "I was looking for help, but I was ashamed."

The first phase of the De Paul program is medical treatment—a detoxification process aimed at getting patients free of the need for any medication seven days after their admission.

A physical and general laboratory tests are run. Other physical conditions, some alcohol related, are treated.

Dr. J. Brown, head staff physician, said that while the detoxification is important, "it is probably the least important aspect of the total program. To simply take an alcoholic off the street and dry him out is to ask for failure."

Beyond Detoxification Once the detoxification is complete, a counseling team determines the next treatment step.

One of several methods is group therapy. The hospital and Alcoholics Anonymous work together. Patients are encouraged to obtain an AA sponsor in their community when they leave the hospital.

"Our group therapy sessions are reality oriented and highly confronting," De Rosa said. "An alcoholic is a crafty, wily person and he has no trouble related problems. He is told the facts about his illness, its symptoms and its consequences.

The people who do not follow through with AA do not succeed, Brown said.

While the alcoholic is undergoing treatment at De Paul, members of his family become deeply involved.

The hospital's Mental Health Clinic serves in problem areas after the patient is released. It also provides for concurrent treatment of family members who may be having social, emotional, marital or psychological problems.

After the patient's release there is a group called Al-Anon, a counterpart to AA organized especially for the family of the alcoholic.

Return to Normalcy There are different paths for those released after treatment.

Some—like Sam—return to their jobs. A few return to alcohol.

There are vocational programs at De Paul for those seeking different paths.

One, the Sertoma workshop, is aimed at helping the individual realize and attain his maximum personal and vocational potential. It includes workshops and recreational activities.

Jim Rothery, extended services program coordinator, said the major purpose is to "lengthen the time of sobriety, lessen the periods of hospitalization and provide a little happiness and reason for being."

Another program, vocational evaluation, uses diagnostic tests to determine the level, intellectually and psychologically, of the patient and where his interests lie.

Ed Kurth, work adjustments training and vocational director, said this program is basically for patients out of a job. Vocational evaluation "strives to stabilize the patient's sobriety, develop his desire to go back to a job and to form good work habits," he said.

Sam, in his off-work time, lectures to AA groups and others. He still has to remind himself he is "only one drink from a drunk."

"Just like a diabetic must have insulin, I must not have alcohol," he said. "That teaches you to be honest with yourself. Alcoholism is not curable, only arrestable."

Company Benefits, Too The Allen-Bradley Co. has referred nearly 100 employees to De Paul since the program began.

"We feel that this has been a very effective program, but it would not have been if we had been unable to use the very unique services of De Paul," I. Andrew Rader, Allen-Bradley president, said. "This hospital does the rehabilitation process of the patient which we could not possibly do in the plant."

"What most employers don't know is how inexpensive and uncomplicated it is to establish an alcoholism program."

It can also save money. Allis-Chalmers reported a savings of $90,000 a year as a result of establishing an alcoholism program for employees in its Milwaukee plant. The absenteeism rate went from 8 per cent to 3 per cent and the discharge rate of alcoholics from 95 per cent to 8 per cent.

Martha Circle Meets The Martha Circle of the Ashland United Methodist church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rosella Jones, assisted by Mrs. Vernon Salade.

Mrs. Karl Hager, president, opened the meeting with prayer. Seventeen members answered roll, followed by the reading of the minutes by Mrs. Richard Davis, Treasurer, Mrs. Edgar Thornley, gave her report.

The Circle will have a Flower and Bulb exchange at the May meeting.

Mrs. Edgar Thornley was program leader for the afternoon and gave an interesting review of the book, The Woman at the Well, by Dale Evans Rogers.

Mrs. Thornley read two poems, To Be a Friend and I Have a Friend, in honor of Mrs. Ella Severs' 97th birthday. The Circle was pleasantly surprised during the meeting when Mrs. Severs called and talked to all present. Mrs. Severs lives with her daughter in Fairfield, Iowa.

At the close of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses during the social hour.

The number of job-related fatalities in 1971 was close to the corresponding figure in 1970—14,300.

Seek To Include Tax Reform To Proposed Revenue Sharing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four Democrats, contending there is no federal revenue for states and cities to share, said Wednesday they will try to include tax reform in a revenue-sharing measure designed to raise $5.3 billion.

Target of the Democrats is a House Ways and Means Committee bill that would allocate $1.8 billion a year to states and $3.5 billion to cities over a five-year period. It was expected to come before the House Rules Committee early next week.

"There is general agreement that the bill attempts to share revenues the federal government simply does not have," Reps. Henry Reuss, D-Wis.; Donald Fraser, D-Minn.; Charles Vanik, D-Ohio; and David Obey, D-Wis., said in a statement.

But they said their tax reform proposal, as an amendment to the sharing measure, would raise $5 billion to $6 billion "by plugging two of the more outrageous loopholes in the federal tax system."

The amendment would eliminate the "asset depreciation range" system which industries use to writing off the depreciation of plant equipment and which the four said "permits corporations to depart from true depreciation schedules by as much as 20 per cent, thus reducing the income taxes they pay."

The second reform would modify the minimum income tax, enacted in the 1969 Tax Reform Law and aimed at getting some tax from large income earners who escape paying any taxes because of large deductions.

The amendment would raise the minimum tax from the present 10 per cent to 20 per cent, would wipe out the deduction for regular taxes paid and reduce the present $30,000 exemption in the minimum tax

Of Men Trip To Romania

By United Press International
Premier Golda Meir's trip to Romania Thursday is making some Israeli officials wary of Romanian and perhaps Soviet motives behind her invitation to Bucharest.

Publicly and privately, Israeli officials insist they have no idea what the Romanians are up to. Despite Israeli newspaper reports of a Romanian mediation effort in the Middle East crisis, officials say there is no indication of such an extensive undertaking and add they know of no other plan the Bucharest leadership may have.

If for only this reason, there is growing suspicion that somehow the Soviets are involved, perhaps seeking to bring about new Arab-Israeli developments to spring on President Nixon during his talks with Kremlin leaders in Moscow later this month.

Whether the Romanians—known for their independence in foreign affairs—would be party to a Soviet diplomatic power play is open to question. But Israeli officials consider it possible.

They point to the timing of Mrs. Meir's visit, which comes less than three weeks before the Nixon visit to Moscow and follows the visit of Romanian President Nicolai Ceausescu to Egypt. While in Cairo, Ceausescu met with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, who shortly thereafter flew off to Moscow and returned making hard-line speeches.

Sadat with his militant speeches is attempting to create a backdrop of Middle East tension for Nixon's Moscow meeting. They have expressed concern that Nixon will be asked to make concessions in the Middle East at the expense of Israel in return for a Soviet promise of aid in helping to solve his election year Vietnam headache.

In his latest speech, delivered at a meeting with naval officers in Alexandria Tuesday, Sadat joined with Libyan Premier Col. Moammar Khadafy in saying their objective was not only to liberate occupied Arab lands, but to "smash Israel's arrogance."

"We shall not be content with liberating our land only," the semi-official Middle East News Agency quoted Sadat as saying. "Our objective should be to smash Israel's arrogance and make her smaller in size."

Days When British Labor Unions Can Disrupt Nation's Economy Have Ended

By WILLIAM F. WRIGHT
LONDON (UPI)—The days when Britain's labor unions can disrupt the nation's economy with impunity have ended. The era passed into history last week in a confrontation between the nation's 280,000 railway workers and a Conservative government backed by a "brolly brigade" of angry, umbrella-wielding commuters. The railway unions bowed to a court order to end their crippling work-to-rule. It marked the first time major unions have yielded to Britain's new Industrial Relations Act.

When Parliament narrowly passed the act last year after the government introduced it to bring labor disputes within the law, most unions vowed to defy the legislation.

In the months that followed, unions forced through wage claims by wildcat strikes and other unofficial industrial action.

Miners Stage Strike
In February Britain's coal miners staged their first nationwide strike in 46 years. The miners blockaded power stations, causing widespread electricity blackouts and sharply wounding the nation's economy. The public took the situation with comparative tolerance, and the miners won virtually all their demands.

But during the railway work-to-rule the stiff British upper lip turned into a snarl.

Bowler-hatted Englishmen, enraged by delayed and cancelled trains, lashed out with furied umbrellas at the non-working crews.

Some commuters "hijacked" trains by forcing drivers at umbrellas - point to keep trains moving. One driver sought police protection when women spat in his face. Another was hauled from his cab by commuters who attempted to drive the train themselves.

Encouraged by the public's reaction, the government accused the unions of attempting to "blackmail" the state-owned railways into granting their demands for a 16 per cent pay increase.

Unions Reject Recommendations

When the unions rejected an independent arbitrator's recommendation for a 12.5 per cent increase and refused to call off the "work-to-rule," the government - invoking the Industrial Relations Act for the first time - won a court ruling ordering a suspension of the go-slow for a 14-day "cooling off" period.

The unions boycotted the court hearing but later issued an embittered statement ordering members to call off the work-to-rule.

Almost simultaneously the new industrial relations court fined the giant Transport and General Workers Union $130,000 for defying a similar order in a dispute with a trucking company. The court said unless the union pays the fine by May 4 it may seize all its assets.

In accepting the order, Sir Sidney Greene, leader of the National Union of Railwaymen (NUR), said the NUR and other railway unions were reluctant to flout the law of the land. At London's Waterloo Railway Station train conductor Alfred Bridge, a union member for 30 years, shook his head sadly and said: "Now we've met our own Waterloo. Things will never be the same."

The May Fellowship Day program will be a breakfast-discussion-worship observance, from 9:30 to 11 a.m. at Mt. Emory Baptist church.

McGovern Still Leads Field In Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert Humphrey gained on George McGovern in the Tuesday primary scramble for Democratic delegates, but McGovern remained clearly in the lead.

Humphrey jumped past Edmund Muskie, who had been in second place in delegate strength, with his 55-delegate scoop from a first place finish in the Indiana primary.

George Wallace gained 21 delegates in Indiana and 15 in his home state Alabama, but stays in fourth place in terms of total delegates committed to vote for him at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach in July.

McGovern now has 240 1/2 delegates' votes, followed by Humphrey with 140, Muskie with 128 1/2 and Wallace with 113. The other candidates trail far behind.

Results from the disputed Ohio primary would continue the Indiana trend if they hold up, but would not make any significant change in the standings.

Humphrey is leading for the 38 at-large Ohio delegates and is leading in district races for 42 others and a total of 80. But McGovern leads district races with 55 delegates.

The District of Columbia gave all its Democratic delegates to favorite son Walter Fauntroy, the district's nonvoting delegate to Congress.

McGovern also claims all 17 delegates from his home state of South Dakota, since he is unopposed there, but that won't be official until the June 6 primary.

President Nixon swept all of the 115 Republican delegates at stake in Tuesday's four primaries to bring his total to 285.

The Democratic standings based on decided races only:

Sen. George S. McGovern 240 1/2
Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey 140
Sen. Edmund S. Muskie 128 1/2
Gov. George C. Wallace 113
Rep. Shirley Chisholm 11
Sen. Henry M. Jackson 1
Rep. Wilbur Mills 1

His Chambers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House voted nearly $1 million Thursday to refurbish and enlarge the lower chamber and enclose it with glass.

The measure, although approved 102-16, was strongly criticized by several dissident legislators.

"I don't think that any of us knew what we were voting for—except the leadership," said Rep. Roscoe R. Cunningham, R-Lawrenceville.

The bill was sponsored by Speaker W. Robert Blair and was handled on the floor by Rep. Clyde Choate, the House's most powerful Democrat.

Supporters said refurbishing the House is "long overdue" because it is too small for its 177 members. "It was built before the expansion of membership in the 1950's," said an aide to one legislator.

The amount of money "has become a professional judgment of what it will cost," an assistant to Choate said, referring to recommendations by the architect.

But Rep. John S. Matijevich, D-Chicago, said he voted for it because, "this kind of thing has been long overdue and I'm happy it's coming."

Choate of Anna explained that present architectural plans call for surrounding the House chamber with glass, separating both the gallery and the press from the areas where the legislators sit.

At present the gallery sits one level above the chamber floor and is separated only by a railing. The press sits on both sides of the speaker's seat at the front of the chamber.

'Circuit Breaker' Tax Relief Plan Wins Approval

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A "circuit breaker" plan to put a ceiling on personal property taxes for the elderly won a favorable recommendation Thursday from the Illinois Senate Revenue Committee.

Sen. Howard R. Mohr, R-Forrest Park, sponsor of the Ogilvie Administration-backed measure, said it was aimed at aiding elderly persons who "rightly resent the rapid inflation of local taxation."

The bill would provide for state payment of property tax bills of elderly persons in excess of 7 per cent of their income up to $500. Renters would receive an allowance under the plan.

Before the committee approved the measure, Mohr succeeded in tacking on an amendment to cover persons considered disabled by the Social Security administration.

Explaining the measure, Mohr said it was "similar in principle to the circuit-breaker that prevents electrical overload."

"It protects the elderly from tax overload without disrupting the flow of revenue from those able to pay," he added.

So-called circuit breaker measures have been adopted in 11 other states and are under consideration in three states besides Illinois.

In Police

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley urged Wednesday that Chicago residents attend police community workshops in an effort to improve relations between police and residents of black and Spanish-speaking neighborhoods.

Daley presided at a meeting of 400 persons including political, civic and business leaders to discuss the problem of police-community relations.

Rep. Ralph Metcalfe, D-Ill., a longtime Daley aide, refused to attend the session after Daley failed to appear Tuesday at a meeting of black leaders discussing the same topic.

Daley criticized persons who he said neglect to learn the facts before blaming police and also criticized crime victims who fail to cooperate with police in prosecuting offenders.

Supt. James B. Conlisk of the Chicago Police Department outlined several programs which will go into effect June 1 in an effort to minimize problems between police and minority groups.

"In cases of alleged excessive force by policemen," Conlisk said, "a civilian representative of the Chicago Commission on Human Relations will review the investigative reports and interrogations. He will make further investigations if he deems it necessary and report directly to the superintendent of police and the chairman of the Human Relations Commission."

Conlisk also said the police department is working with the Circuit Court to develop a procedure whereby a person stopped for a minor traffic offense would not have to post his driver's license as a bond.

"Much of the friction between police and citizens arises from minor traffic offenses," he said.

A group of individuals made short statements after the officials spoke but Daley adjourned the meeting abruptly after 90 minutes. Several individuals still waited an opportunity to speak.

Alderman William S. Singer, an independent, said, "The meeting didn't do a thing; there was nothing substantive."

and Mrs. Lorraine Laurent.

Featured soloists will include Shawn Denney, Marty Morris, Mrs. Sally Roberts and Mrs. Ruth Stanberry, all of Jacksonville; Miss Marcia Kelly of Ashland; Miss Sue Dwyer of Winchester; and Miss Isabelle Robinette of Divernon.

House Leader Predicts Passage Of Lottery Law

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The chairman of the Illinois House Appropriations Committee said Thursday he supports a state lottery concept of a state lottery and predicted House passage of lottery legislation.

Rep. David J. Regner, R-Mt. Prospect, said he wasn't endorsing a particular bill but favored the general concept of a lottery. He added that he had not sounded out opinions in the Senate or of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

Rep. E.J. Giorgi, D-Rockford, sponsor of the legislation, estimated the state could reap $100 million annually with 30 per cent of the funds going for common schools.

The House Executive Committee has recommended passage of the bill.

The bill, which includes a $1.5 million appropriation to pay initial operations of the lottery, now goes to Regner's committee. He said his staff is currently investigating the possibilities of having such a lottery. When the bingo bill passed the General Assembly last year, legislators predicted a state lottery would be approved in the near future.

Lockman, Kulish Spark Routt 1-0

CHANDLERVILLE — Kevin Lockman and Kulish sparked Routt's Tom Lockman and Chandler's Mike Boeker.

Lockman allowed only three singles in the eight innings. The junior southpaw fanned ten and walked four in moving his record to 4-0. Boeker whiffed 14 and walked three in a strong five-hitter. Both worked out of several jams. Routt went down in order only twice, stranding seven runners, while the Comets left nine, going down one-two-three just once.

The victory moves Routt to 5-3 on the year and 5-1 5-1 in the PMSC, with only two games against Perry remaining, both after District District competition. Chandlerville finishes its loop card at 5-3 in second place. The Comets are 7-4 on the season.

Rangers Win 5-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Defenseman Brad Park set a Stanley Cup record with two power-play goals Thursday night and assisted on two other scores by Rod Gilbert, leading the New York Rangers to a 5-2 victory over the Boston Bruins.

The triumph in the third game of their National Hockey League championship series left the Rangers trailing Boston 2-1 in the best-of-seven playoff. Game No. 4 is scheduled for Sunday afternoon in New York.

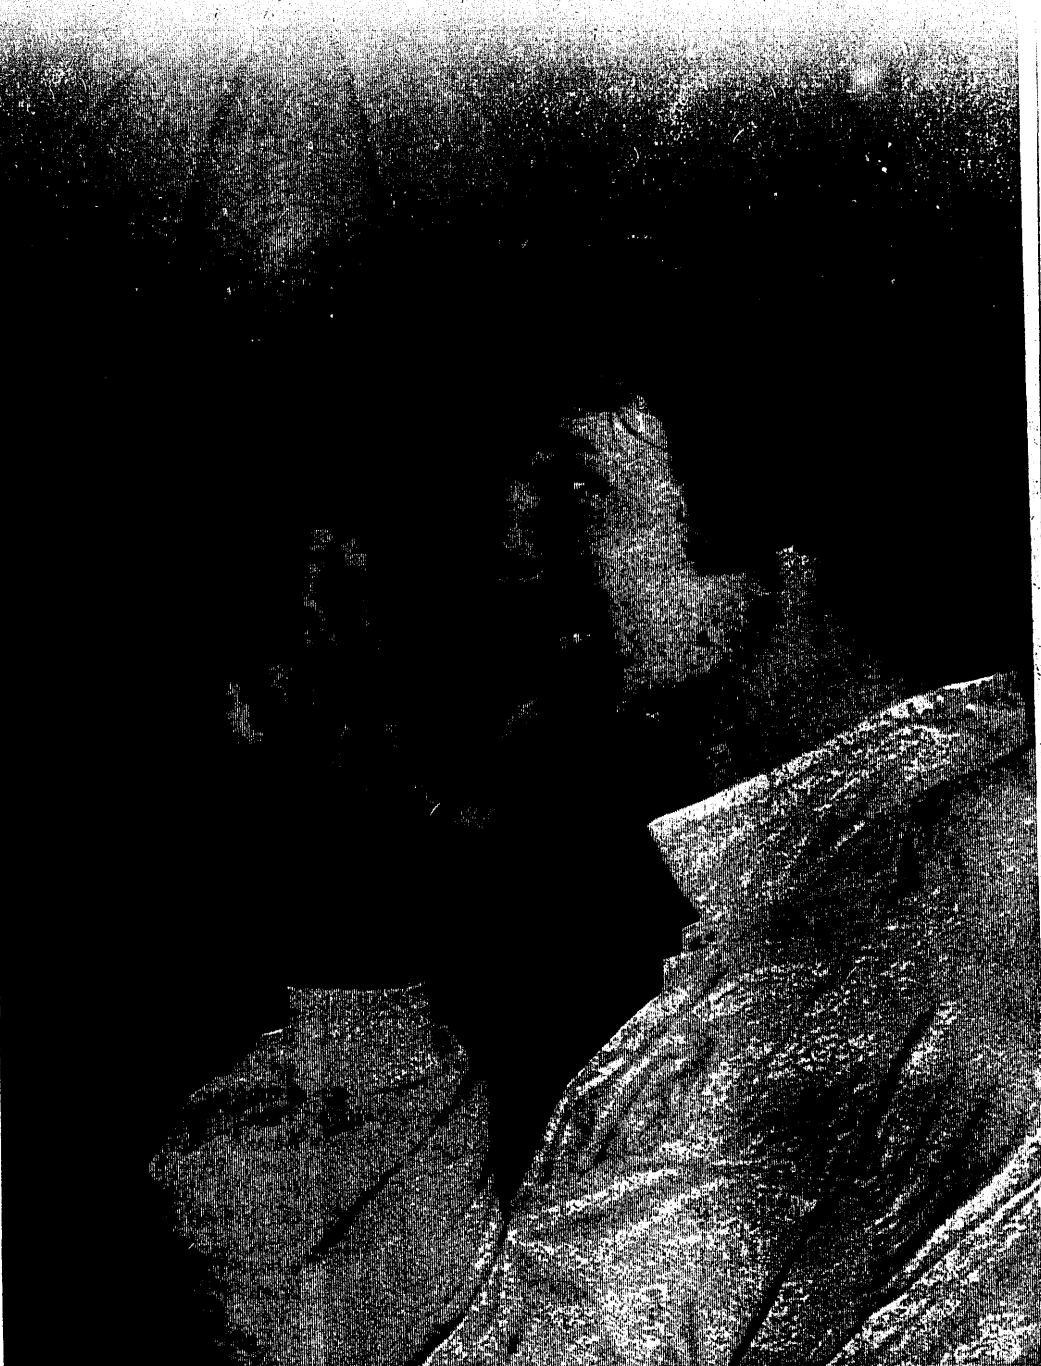

Park, who scored 24 goals during the regular season, led a first period Ranger surge that produced three power play goals.

The defenseman connected for his first of the night at 1:22 with Boston's Dallas Smith in the penalty box. Ten minutes later Gilbert jammed Park's rebound past Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers, again on the power play.

Park made it 3-0 with his fourth playoff goal this season, again with the Bruins short-handed at 1:00.

Boston's Mike Walton and Bobby Orr narrowed the Ranger margin to 3-2 before Gilbert connected again less than four minutes into the second period. Again, Park assisted.

Peter Stankowski's goal with just 37 seconds left in the second period gave the Rangers a three-goal edge which they protected through the final 20 minutes of the game.

NEW YORK: Enjoying the relaxation reserved for winners, Los Angeles' high-scoring guard Gail Goodrich spins basketball on his fingers during workout Thursday for the Friday NBA championship game against the New York Knicks. The Laker victory Wednesday gave them a 2-1 lead in the best of seven series.

Late Reds Uprising Spills Cardinals 9-5

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dave Concepcion singled in two runs in the eighth inning and Bobby Tolan tripled in three more, leading the Cincinnati Reds to a 9-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday.

Concepcion's one-out single off Al Santorini scored pinch runner Cesar Geronimo and Denis Menke and snapped a 4-4 tie the Cardinals had created with a two-run uprising in the seventh inning.

One out later, Pete Rose was walked intentionally by reliever Joe Grzenda, who then hit Joe Morgan with a pitch that loaded the bases. Tolan cleared them with his third hit, a screaming line drive that eluded Cardinal center fielder Luis Melendez as he attempted a shoestring catch.

White Sox Enjoying New Image

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Go-Go Sox are gone, and Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner is not longing for their return.

"With the team we have now," Tanner said Thursday, "we have the potential to explode at any time, and score a lot of runs."

"We might even lead the American League in home runs while playing in one of the biggest parks. The White Sox definitely have a new image."

Tanner is only in his second season as skipper of the White Sox, but he played against some of the old Chicago teams whose greatest offensive weapon was flashing feet on the base paths.

"They used to score on a walk, a stolen base, an infield out and a sacrifice fly," Tanner recalled in his Baltimore hotel room. "They'd scramble for a run or two, and that was it."

But in Dick Allen, Bill Melton and Rick Reichardt, Tanner figures the White Sox have three sluggers "who could combine to hit 90 home runs."

Since Tanner took over in September, 1970, the White Sox have added 15 new players through trades or purchases.

"Even though we have more power," Tanner said, "we still have some speed. We finished second in the league in stolen bases last season. With both speed and power, you can do a lot of things."

Mac Eyes Loop Title This Week

The McMurray College baseball Highlanders will be defending their conference title this weekend when the Clansmen journey to Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa for the annual Midlands Conference spring sports weekend.

Also participating in the two-day event will be the tennis, golf and track squads from McMurray, Quincy College, St. Ambrose College, St. Norbert College, Lewis College and host Loras.

In opening round action, Coach Bob Gay's baseball squad will face longtime rival Quincy. Loras and Lewis will square in another contest, while St. Ambrose and St. Norbert drew byes in the first round.

Coach Gay has already named senior lefty Phil Bennett (West Salem) to face Quincy's Hawks. Bennett, 3-3 on the year, has recorded five straight career wins against Quincy, including a 1-0 performance earlier this year. The Highlanders, now 6-13, edged Quincy by a 5-0 score to claim the 1971 Midlands Conference title.

In other weekend events, Loras will be defending the track crown. Leading the Highlander cindermen's hopes will be pole vaulter Jim More, and sprint artists Dave Keilman (100 and 220), Bruce Matheson (220 and 440), and Doug Hunt (880).

Mac's top entrants in the tennis tourney will be sophomore Bob Evans (Cincinnati), junior Brian Burris (Freeport), and senior Harry Norenberg (Oak Lawn), while freshman Steve Sauerberg (LaGrange) and junior Tim Hopper (Rockton) hold Mac's best chances in the golf competition.

The weekend activities will make the conclusion of McMurray Coach Bill Wall's term as commissioner of the Midlands Conference.

DeBusschere Still Key To Playoffs

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—The only thing missing is the fancy pink ribbon.

Otherwise the Los Angeles Lakers have it all wrapped up. They won't say so yet, naturally, and neither will the New York Knicks, down now two games to one for the NBA title, but both are fully aware if sore-hipped Dave DeBusschere can't do any better than he did at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, then it's all over. And from the looks of it, the hobbled DeBusschere, who could only play the first half and wasn't able to score a point in the Knicks' 107-96 licking, simply cannot do much better. Not in the physical condition he's in.

Poor Dave DeBusschere. He's like the guy who says it only hurts when he laughs.

"It only bothers me when I extend myself hard," he says about his injured hip. "In order to play basketball of course, you've gotta do that."

For the Knicks to try to beat the Lakers now with DeBusschere, their bread-and-butter man, sitting on the bench the way he did during the last two quarters Wednesday night is roughly the same thing as the Boston Bruins going for the whole box of biscuits minus Bobby Orr, or the Pittsburgh Pirates trying to do it with Roberto Clemente out.

Without Dave DeBusschere the Knicks are merely another good basketball team, but certainly not good enough to beat the Lakers.

To his credit, DeBusschere tried Wednesday night when he was listed as a doubtful starter until nearly game time.

"I know I had certain limitations but I didn't know how extensive they would be until I got involved in the heat of the game," he said. "That's a whole lot different than going out and working out before the game and saying well, it feels fine."

It didn't take long for DeBusschere to find out he couldn't cut it.

"Once I was in the game I found it bothered me more than I thought it would," he said. "I couldn't do the things I wanted to do. I couldn't cut sharp; I couldn't get my hands up high."

Somebody suggested maybe he was pressing too much.

"I don't think so," he said. "When you can't move I wouldn't call it pressing."

During halftime, at which point the Lakers led by five, 52-47, Red Holzman and DeBusschere discussed the injury. They talked about whether DeBusschere should try to play the second half. "It's up to you," Holzman said. "What do you feel?" "I feel I can't do the things I wanna do," DeBusschere answered honestly.

For the Lakers, Jerry West didn't do all the things he wanted to either but he did enough of them so that he at least showed signs of snapping a slump he's been in since the series with the Milwaukee Bucks.

West hit 10 of 28 shots he tried from the field plus one from the foul line for 21 points. He also contributed eight assists, two rebounds and several key steals, so tips and all, you'd have to say he had a pretty fair night.

"I thought I played well," West said, answering a direct question. "I stole some balls, passed pretty well and made some shots."

"Was the slump getting to you?" someone asked him. "Well," he parried, "when you get to the point where you're trying to find a place to hide out there . . ."

"It didn't get that bad, did it?"

"You'd be surprised," said West.

"What does winning a championship mean to you?"

Jerry West, sitting there on a bench in his bare feet, smiled. "I really don't know," he said. "I've never had the privilege of being in a winning locker room after the final game."

It shouldn't be long now for Jerry West.

Not with Dave DeBusschere in the condition he's in.

Riva Ridge Heads 98th Derby Field

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Riva Ridge, who has tasted defeat only once in the past 10 months, heads a field of 16 in Saturday's 98th running of the Kentucky Derby, one of the most exciting two minutes in the world of sports.

The pride of the Chenery family's Meadow Stable, winner of seven stakes races during the same period, was rated Thursday as the 9-5 favorite to win first prize money from a pot of $182,800, second richest in Derby history.

The Churchill Downs handicapper named Mrs. Maribel Blum's Hold Your Peace as the probable second choice at 3-1 of the more than 100,000 fans who will be on hand for the race.

No Le Haze, J. R. Straus' winner of the Louisiana and Arkansas derbies, was listed as third choice at 5-1 with Paul Mellon's Rokeby Stable racer, Head of the River, next at 6-1.

Head of the River won the Everglades Stakes on April Fool's Day, handing Riva Ridge his first defeat in nearly a year.

Freeform, Joe and William Stovola's son of Vertex who run under the colors of Middletown Stable, was figured to bring 10-1 odds; Introductive was listed as 12-1 and Sensitive Music at 15-1.

Rated at 20-1 were Pacallo and Hassi's Image with odds of 30-1 placed on Big Brown Bear, Dr. Neale, Our Trade Winds, Majestic Needle, Napoleo and Big Spruce, the latter five in the mutual field.

Deadline Set For 'Y' Golf

The final deadline for entering the Jacksonville YMCA's Mens Summer Golf League is Monday, May 8.

Going into its fourth year, league play is scheduled to begin on Monday, May 15. Play is scheduled for Nichols Park on Mondays with tee times starting at 4:45 and running until 6:00.

This year's league is limited to six teams with seven men to a team. All seven players play each week, but only the low four scores with the handicaps determine the team's score. The 1972 handicaps will be the handicap that the players ended last season with.

New players will be given handicaps according to four rounds played at the Park this year or by an assigned number according to their experience until their regular handicap can be set. All players enter as individuals and are then drafted to teams by selected captains.

Awards for the league are presented to all players on teams placing first and second, to the lowest handicapped golfer, lowest season gross score, best putting average, the most improved golfer, and the lowest net score. Entry fee is $8 for YMCA members, and $9 for non-members. This includes the Awards Banquet ticket.

League officers are Jim O'Brien, president; Jack Alred, Steve Bockemeier, Jim Buckley, Floyd Craft, Gary Church, Duane Hess, and Jim Reynolds.

Barry, Roche Pace Nets' 94-88 Margin

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The New York Nets, behind the clutch sharpshooting of Rick Barry and John Roche, defeated the Virginia Squires 94-88 Thursday night and won the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division title.

The Nets won the best-of-seven series 4-3 and will meet the Western Division champion Indiana Pacers Saturday in Bloomington, Ind., in the first game of the ABA championship finals.

Barry and Roche combined for seven of the Nets' last eight points as the New Yorkers broke a tie and went on to victory.

Barry's field goal with 2:44 remaining gave the Nets a 90-88 lead and Roche's free throw a minute later salted the game away. Virginia failed to score in the last three minutes and 20 seconds.

The Nets, who had led 48-44 at intermission, padded the lead to as high as 10 with 4:50 remaining in the third period, with Roche and Bill Melchionni pacing the attack.

The Squires, behind rookie Julius Erving, finally pulled even at 88-all with 3:20 to go in the final quarter but were unable to put the ball in the basket again.

Caruthers, a 6-0, 165 pounder, is the first prep standout to indicate for Bradley so far this year.

The high-scoring, sharp-shooting guard carries the credentials of an All-American from a team which was 19-1 this past season and rated the very best squad in Kansas.

Caruthers was first team All-Kansas City, Kansas, first team All-Metropolitan Area, first team All-Kansas, first team All-Class 4A, Most Valuable Player in the city as selected by the Kansas City Kansans and the top scorer in the city with an average of 24.1 points per game.

Bradley Gets Standout
PEORIA — Jim Caruthers, tabbed as the best collegiate basketball prospect in the entire metropolitan area of Kansas City, has signed a national letter-of-intent to attend Bradley University.

Early Lead At Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Rookie Chuck Thorpe, a rangy, hard-hitting 25-year-old, ripped six strokes off par with a 68 and swept into the first-round lead Thursday in the $125,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament.

Thorpe, one of the few black players on the pro tour, held a one-stroke lead over Don Dies and Hale Irwin, who each shot 67 on the 6,998-yard Westwood Country Club course.

Veteran Doug Sanders, who has been out of action with a wrist ailment for a month, Jack Ewing and Jim Ferrielle were tied at 69 in the warm and sunny weather.

The group at 69 included Australian Bruce Devlin, rookie Lanny Wadkins and Bob Menne.

Bruce Crampton, an Australian veteran who was the pre-tournament favorite in this chase for a $25,000 first prize, struggled in with a 74.

Canadian Wilf Homenick, who made a run for the title in last week's Bryon Nelson Classic, took a 73.

Frank Beard, one of the few big names entered in this event, withdrew after playing six holes because of an injured thumb.

Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper, South African Gary Player and Chi Chi Rodriguez, winner of the Nelson Classic, all took the week off for one reason or another. Thorpe, who once had a brief fling with a Pittsburgh Pirates' baseball farm team, is making his second try at the pro tour.

Big Ten Race Could Be Scrambled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Big Ten baseball race, led by surprising Northwestern, this weekend could be unscrambled a bit.

A botched schedule has the pacesetter Wildcats (5-1) host in a set of doubleheaders against Illinois (3-6) Friday and Purdue (2-4) Saturday.

Saturday, runnerup Minnesota (6-2), regarded the contender to beat, entertains third-place Iowa (7-3) in a twin bill which could eliminate one from the title run in the weather-harassed campaign.

Friday's program has only two other doubleheaders—Michigan (2-2) at Michigan State (2-2), and Purdue at Wisconsin (2-4). In nonleague play, Ohio State (4-6) appears at Southern Illinois in the first of a two-day set of twin bills.

Saturday's round of doubleheaders also includes Illinois at Wisconsin and Michigan State at Michigan.

With games being wiped out right and left by rain, snow or cold weather, Northwestern suddenly has a chance to capture the league crown for the first and only other time since the 1957 Wildcats won with a 5-2 record.

"Northwestern has been a surprise," said coach Danny Litwhiler of defending champion Michigan State. "But I still feel first place will be between Minnesota, Iowa, Michigan and ourselves."

Iowa which won its only outright Big Ten title in 1939 has surged into contention on sharp pitching, led by one of the league's two winningest hurlers, Bill Keckroth, with a 3-0 record and an outstanding 0.70 ERA.

The other 3-0 conference topper is Minnesota's Ken Schultz, who has a 1.26 ERA.

Paced by shortstop John McCarthy's .687 league-leading batting mark, Northwestern tops the conference in team hitting with .331.

CHICAGO (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals claimed Chicago Bears running back Craig Baynam and former Los Angeles Rams wide receiver Wendell Tuckman, and the Bears picked up veteran defensive tackle Paul Dickson from the Cardinals.

Dickson, a Baylor product, has been in the National Football League since 1959. The No. 1 choice of the Rams in the 1959 draft, he has also played for Minneapolis and Dallas.

Baynam, 27, will be in his sixth NFL campaign. He spent three seasons with the Dallas Cowboys and two with the Bears. He missed the 1971 season because of a shoulder injury.

Tucker, 28, was signed as a free agent by the Kansas City Chiefs in 1966 and spent the season on the Chiefs' taxi squad. He joined Los Angeles in 1976 and was traded to the Cowboys last year with Billy Truax for wide receiver Lance Rentzell, but was not activated by Dallas.

SPORTS NOTES FROM ALL OVER

Beardstown's Bill Ingle and Tom Seward continue to chalk up some impressive track marks. Last Saturday Ingle turned a 10.0 100 and Seward fired the shot put 54'4". Seward also had a 155'5" discus effort, topped Thursday with a mighty 159'5". Teammate Rick Mitchell has area's second bests with a 147'7" discus and 48'2" shot put.

JACKSONVILLE and area slow pitch softball teams interested in entering a 32-team single elimination tournament at Riverton May 27-29 may contact this writer in near future.

SLOW PITCH action gets underway in town this Sunday with the new Sunday Night League at the Pony-Colt Park. Rough figures show close to 80 teams playing in Jacksonville this summer, with the parks full virtually all the time.

AN ITEM missed at the time: Jacksonville High graduate Rod Jackson, running for Eastern Illinois University, placed second in the 60-yard hurdles in the National NAIA indoor meet in Kansas City in January, turning in a time of .07.3, three-tenths of a second off the winning time. EIU came in third in the team standings with 26 points, behind Dallas Baptist with 30 and Prairie View A&M with 27. The JHS tradition of outstanding hurdlers is being well protected this year by standout George Haley, who has area's bests in both hurdles events.

DETAILS have not been released yet, but Jacksonville appears to be committed to holding an ASA Class 'A' Slow Pitch Regional later this summer, with the winner advancing to the state finals in Caseyville. Only ASA registered teams are eligible for the playoffs.

A WELCOME innovation this year is Routt High School holding its District Baseball Tournament at night, giving many more fans a chance to see their clubs in action. The first night, Saturday, will be played at Nichols Park, with the next three dates slated for the Pony-Colt Park.

PORTA HIGH School's Casey Duncheon Wednesday added another bright note to his already illustrious prep athletic career. Duncheon fanned an unbelievable 31 batters in 14-inning 4-3 win over Glenwood. Glenwood scored three unearned runs in the top of the 14th but Porta came back with four in the bottom of the frame. Duncheon, one of the area's finest all-around athletes in many years, is reported to be heading for Quincy College on a basketball scholarship.

THE TICKETS for Jacksonville Night at Busch Stadium July 15 were picked up Wednesday evening. The big push for ticket sales will start in the near future, with the Chamber of Commerce shooting to again top its stadium record for community nights. The Cardinals have 62 such nights slated this year, with Florissant, Mo., canceling out following the baseball strike. Jacksonville holds the one, two, three and four year records for such events, with the goal set this year at 2,000.

PLAYERS and management may try to tell you the atmosphere hasn't changed since the strike, and we find it hard to believe. The fans aren't going to let the players forget their displeasure over the strike, and the owners aren't about to let the performers forget, and vice versa. The attendance figures to date are shockingly low. This may be the summer that major league baseball would choose to forget.

No Le Haze Boss Still Confident

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—No Le Haze—pronounced Noly-Ha-Say—is Spanish for "it makes no difference" and that is the attitude taken by craggy, old Homer Pardue on his colt's outside starting position in Saturday's overcrowded Kentucky Derby.

"We're going to win it," the 62-year-old trainer said Thursday while gathering a bucket of daffodils on the back side of storied Churchill Downs.

"I'm not worried about the post position. I'm not worried about the odds. I don't care if the track is muddy or like concrete, uphill or down. I had my doubts after we won the Arkansas Derby. I had my doubts after we won the Louisiana Derby. I got no doubts now."

A 5-1 choice, No Le Haze drew No. 16 in the 16-horse field.

Pardue, born across the street from the Downs and reared in the tradition of the blue grass, took his bucket of daffodils back to barn 9 and started feeding them to the sleek mahogany thoroughbred with the slash of white across the forehead.

"A lot of iron in daffodils," Pardue commented. "This old boy loves them, I go out and pick a bucketful every morning."

"They're good for you," said Bill DePue, the 55-year-old, gray-haired groom. "People in Pennsylvania's Dutch country learned that long ago. They eat daffodil salads."

No Le Haze stuck his head out the stall and whinnied.

No Le Haze, owned by Texas rancher Joe Straus of San Antonio, has become a sentimental favorite of racing buffs in the 98th running of America's top horse race. Part of it is his strange name. Adding to his is the attitude taken by craggy, old Homer Pardue on his colt's outside starting position in Saturday's overcrowded Kentucky Derby.

The top Derby horses, including favored Riva Ridge and Hold Your Peace, are quartered in barns 41, 42 and 43—the Park Avenue of Churchill Downs' backstretch barn area. The barns are freshly painted and so sanitary you could eat your lunch off the floor.

Barn 9 is about half a mile away. It's the Bowery, away from the excitement and hustle-bustle of the main drag. It's dirty and messy. Paint is peeling off the stalls. One lone cop stands guard—just because of the presence of No Le Haze—and he spends most of his time sleeping.

"I wanted to be in barn 9," Pardue said. "That's where my friends are. We're away from the crowd."

"He's the most relaxed animal you ever saw," said Pardue. "Except when you get him near a track—and he goes crazy."

Waverly's 'B' team won 45-18. Diane Handy captured the 50, 220 and high jump and ran a leg on the winning medley. Kathy Walk took the long jump, came in second in the high jump and ran a winning relay piece. Sandra Heaton claimed the 100.

The final session of the Camelot mixed pairs had just started. Lancelot sat South at table one with Elaine the Fair in the North. La Belle Isolde was West with the great Tristram in the East. The peerless knight quickly reached four hearts after Elaine's single raise and Isolde opened the jack of clubs.

Lancelot called for the three from dummy and it was up to Tristram to play. Tristram studied and studied. Finally he turned to Lancelot and said, "Methinks thou hast a subtle reason for thy play of a low club. Haven't thee?"

Then Tristram rose with his ace and returned the queen of spades. La Belle Isolde collected two spades and trump to set the peerless one trick.

If Tristram had ducked the first club, he would never have gained the lead. Eventually Lancelot would have discarded one of dummy's spades on his fourth diamond and made his contract.

Like other meetings between the two greatest knights of the round table, this turned out to be a no-decision contest. At the other tables the jack of clubs was always covered. East would play his ace automatically and declarer would be down that same one trick.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Nitroglycerin Pills Must Be Fresh

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article on angina and nitroglycerin tablets. I have had angina about 2½ years, but in the last year have not had an angina attack. When I lift or work too fast I get short of breath, but do not have the pains I used to. After reading your article I discarded my nitroglycerin tablets. Should I have kept them?

Dear Reader — No. You might as well have thrown them away because if they really were a year old they were no good anyway. Nitroglycerin tablets do not last a long time and should be kept fresh if they are going to be used at all. Anyone who has had any anginal attacks for six months or a year shouldn't be taking nitroglycerin tablets even if they start having chest pains suddenly. The thing to do in that instance is to call your doctor. The reason a lot more people don't have an adverse reaction to nitroglycerin tablets used for chest pain that is really a severe heart attack, not angina, is because they have kept the tablets so long that they aren't any good.

I presume you are referring to my comment that an individual should not take nitroglycerin tablets at the onset of a heart attack. They are quite all right for treatment of recurring angina and have been used successfully that way for years, but they can be harmful to a person who has chest pain. Dear Dr. Lamb — We know that the thyroid gland produces hormones necessary for life. Would a woman without this hormone die without medicine to restore her thyroid? Does thyroid deficiency affect body function and mental ability? Is it inherited later in life by children born to a woman with thyroid deficiency?

Dear Reader — Yes, the thyroid hormone is essential to life. The fact that one is hypothyroid or has a low thyroid function, however, doesn't mean that no hormone is produced. In longstanding cases of markedly decreased thyroid function some patients can even develop coma. And such severe thyroid depression can lead to "myxedema madness," which means loss of mental capacity due to extremely low thyroid function. Less severe cases are not fatal. There is no evidence that low thyroid function is inherited. Even a woman is diagnosed as having low thyroid function after her children are born it is doubtful that she would have had seriously low thyroid function during a successful pregnancy. Women with relatively low thyroid function have difficulty getting pregnant and difficulty in maintaining their pregnancy. If a normal child is born it is a reasonably good indication the mother has normal function of the thyroid.

Wallace

Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Vance Hartke of Indiana, former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Wisconsin, Reps. Shirley Chisholm of New York and Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas and Mayors John V. Lindsay of New York and Sam Yorty of Los Angeles.

The nonbinding busing referendum asked voters if they favored an amendment to the U.S. Constitution forbidding busing of school children for the primary purpose of achieving racial balance.

With 58 per cent of the precincts counted, the busing ban was being endorsed by 80 per cent of the voters, 182,171 to 41,396.

On the Republican ballot, Nixon picked up the 28 GOP convention delegates by this lopsided margin, with 58 per cent of the vote counted. Nixon 44,233, or 96 per cent. McCloskey 1,370, or 3 per cent.

Ashbrook 1,325, or 2 per cent. Despite Wallace's winning margin, there was a threat to his domination of the 49 Democratic delegate votes.

State law says delegates are bound to the winning primary candidate for up to two ballots. But the delegates are picked in separate caucuses and conventions which have been packed by McGovern workers, black women and youth. In Memphis, the state's largest city, this group is expected to pick an all-liberal and at least half black delegation.

Wallace said he had the momentum with him after finishing a strong second in Indiana Tuesday, picking up 21 Democratic national convention delegates, and winning his home state for at least 15 more delegates. From Tennessee he goes to North Carolina where he is expected to score again Saturday.

Busing is a major issue in Tennessee, which is under or facing federal court orders that could make it one of the most widely and thoroughly bused states in the nation.

The busing referendum on Thursday's ballot asked specifically whether the voters favor a constitutional amendment which would ban busing ordered solely to achieve racial balance in the public schools.

After a similar referendum in Florida fueled Wallace's campaign to a runaway victory, all the other candidates except Rep. Mrs. Chisholm left Tennessee to Wallace.

Mrs. Chisholm, the black congresswoman from New York City who sought Memphis' heavy black vote, and McGovern, whose organization concentrated on big cities and college campuses, put their effort on the selection of friendly delegates rather than the popular vote.

New Voting Date In Cleveland

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal judge granted on Thursday a new voting date for 16 Cleveland area precincts as Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey took firm hold of 49 first-ballot Democratic convention votes.

Humphrey was in a good position to gain at least 28 more votes. Sen. George McGovern held 15 convention votes and led in balloting for 49 others in Ohio's 153-vote delegation.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. Battisti set next Tuesday as election day in 16 Cuyahoga County precincts which never opened last Tuesday. He acted at the request of Joseph Cipolone, county board of elections director.

Humphrey won Ohio's 38 at-large delegates. Other delegates were determined on the basis of returns in each of the state's congressional districts.

Thirteen convention votes went to favorite sons, Reps. Wayne Hays in the 18th District and Louis Stokes in the 21st District.

Voting machine trouble and other snafus kept polling places from opening last Tuesday in six precincts in Cleveland and 10 in the city's suburbs.

Several other polling places opened hours after the scheduled 6:30 a.m. opening, but in these precincts the scheduled 6:30 p.m. closing time was extended until 11:59 p.m. when Judge Battisti acted on a motion filed on Humphrey's behalf.

Earlier Thursday, before acting on the election board's motion, Battisti said he had no jurisdiction in a suit filed on behalf of McGovern.

With 95 per cent of the votes counted for the 38 at-large delegates, Humphrey had 457,405 votes to 434,052 for McGovern.

Sen. Henry W. Jackson of Washington had 88,983 votes; Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine 88,232 and former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota 24,595.

Believe Hughes Behind Suit Against Book

CHICAGO (AP) — The vice-president of Cyano Books, Inc., believes the Howard Hughes organization is behind a California suit to halt distribution of a book which charges Hughes loaned a quarter of a million dollars to the Nixon family in return for political favors when Richard Nixon was vice president.

A California man filed suit in a Los Angeles suburb Wednesday charging that the book — "The Nixon-Hughes Loan" — violates the truth-in-packaging laws because it "contains misstatements of fact and slanderous innuendos and false documentation."

The publisher, Cyano Books, Inc., and the author, British writer Nicholas North-Broome, were named as defendants in the suit. The suit asks temporary and permanent injunctions barring distribution of the book in California. Victor T. Schaub filed the suit as a class action.

Speaking in Chicago Thursday, Charles Ashman of Cyano Books said the suit is "either the work of a group connected with Hughes or of a group of overzealous Republicans."

Ashman said the company and North-Broome are planning a countersuit for damages if the California suit interferes with the book's sales. More than 200,000 copies of the book were printed last month, and distribution began this week, Ashman said.

The book charges that Hughes loaned about $250,000 to President Nixon's mother and brother in late 1956, and that there was never any intention that the money was to be repaid.

In exchange for the loan, the book says, the then-Vice President Nixon influenced government decisions dealing with Trans-World Airlines and Hughes Aircraft Corp. Hughes had interests in both firms at the time.

The book charges various fraudulent documents were used to "cover up" the loan, and that at least one of the documents was notarized by the Senate's disbursement officer in Nixon's Capitol office.

Ashman called the loan "the most shocking story of political corruption since the Teapot Dome scandal."

Ashman said the loan has been the subject of numerous journalistic investigations, including one by the late Drew Pearson in 1960.

Ashman also said Parson's former associate, Pulitzer-prize-winning columnist Jack Anderson, will discuss the Nixon-Hughes loan in his column Monday. Ashman said he had been in contact with one of Anderson's assistants.

Details of the loan were offered to the Kennedy family for use in the 1960 presidential campaign, Ashman said, but the late President Kennedy decided not to use them. That story is also related in the book.

North-Broome posted a $1 million bond to protect the publishers and distributors of the book if any of the material proved untrue, Ashman said.

The book contains copies of numerous documents purported to be connected with the loan, as well as biographical sketches of the figures involved. Ashman said the documents in the case are now in a Los Angeles bank vault. The next hearing on the suit is scheduled for June 7 in Los Angeles.

VISITORS ADMIRE TITLE 3 PROGRAM IN DISTRICT 117

Seven teachers from the Springfield public schools visited School District 117's T-3 program at the Sophie Leschin Building, May 2nd. The party was led by Vince Speranza, president of the Springfield Education Association.

The Springfield educators first heard of the local program for children with behavior problems, their teachers, and families, in a newspaper article written by the Jacksonville Education Association President, Jackie May. The Springfield teachers were impressed with concepts and procedures of the T-3 program and invited Alan Polite, project director, to speak to leaders of the Springfield Education Association and various Springfield administrators.

The Springfield teachers feel strongly about helping children with behavior problems and are determined to explain the T-3 approach to the Springfield Education system and to institute a similar program.

Part of the goals of the T-3 program as financed by Title III ESEA funds is to evaluate programs and to encourage others to use the procedures which are proven successful. It now appears that children in Springfield will benefit from the T-3 program in Jacksonville.

State Employee Pension Bonus

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois state senators shied away Thursday from increasing a multi-billion dollar public pension debt as they defeated, 24-17, a bill to aid state employee pensions.

The legislation would have given postwar state employees up to five years pension credit for wartime military service.

Sen. John L. Knuppel, D-Petersburg, sponsor of the bill, estimated an immediate financial burden of $12 million to $30 million if the state put the plan in effect, and $1.5 million to $2.5 million annually to maintain it.

But, he said, "we must do something for those who took their life in their hands to volunteer for their country, and thereafter dedicated themselves to public service."

Egbert Groen, R-Pekin, said Illinois already owes its pension funds $2.5 billion, and local governments owe theirs about $2 billion.

Groen estimated Knuppel's bill would immediately plunge the state debt close to $3 billion total, and would create demands that other public employees be similarly treated.

BLUFFS WOMAN RETURNED HERE TO FACE CHARGE

Doris N. Vannier, 19, was being held in the Sangamon County jail Thursday night where she was taken after being returned to the city by a Morgan County Sheriff's deputy. She was arrested in Mississippi and waived extradition.

Files To Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continuing its long tradition of secrecy has become a legal and political pain in the neck, the Food and Drug Administration yesterday announced plans to open its files to as much public inspection as the law allows.

Peter Hutt, the agency's general counsel, predicted the new policy would unlock about 90 per cent of information in FDA files, compared with the 10 per cent now available to the public.

But he cautioned, "This is not going to mean every piece of paper in the FDA is immediately going to be available."

The public-disclosure proposal, covering 58 typewritten pages, allows interested persons 60 days to comment after publication in the Federal Register. Spokesmen for the food and drug industries privately expressed alarm at the idea but withheld public statements until they have time to study the proposals.

Patterned in the spirit of the Freedom of Information Act, the FDA's open-files plan is believed to go further than any other federal regulatory agency's.

Basically, the FDA proposes to make public safety and effectiveness data for food additives, color additives and antibiotic drugs unless companies can demonstrate the information should remain secret.

In the case of food and drug companies that already have submitted confidential material, the FDA said it would give them six months to justify continued secrecy.

Much of the drug information the FDA said, "is still highly valuable in that it gives the company having it a competitive advantage over others who are required by law to obtain it in order to receive FDA approval of a product or ingredient prior to marketing."

Hutt said the FDA has about 2,000 food-additive regulations and between 17,000 and 18,000 new-drug applications, many of them no longer containing valuable trade secrets.

Food-additive information would remain secret only in rare instances, Hutt said. Several food additives and colorings are suspected by scientists and consumer groups of being hazardous to health.

Public disclosure would prevail in FDA correspondence with company officials, congressmen and the public, including minutes of meetings and summaries of telephone conversations.

Communications between government employees would remain confidential, however, as would reports from persons voluntarily supplying information now required by law.

Hijackers Surrender

ISTANBUL (AP) — Four Turkish airplane hijackers surrendered to Bulgarian authorities in Sofia yesterday although the Turkish government was reported to have rejected their demands to free six terrorists—three of them condemned to death—in Turkey.

The hijackers abandoned their threats to blow up the plane and those aboard, Foreign Minister Haluk Bayulken told parliament a short time after the Bulgarian Telegraph Agency reported from Sofia: "The group of armed youths who forced the jet aircraft of the Turkish civil airlines to land at Sofia, left the aircraft and handed over their weapons to the Bulgarian authorities. The passengers and crew are in complete safety, the undamaged aircraft is at the Sofia airport."

The Turkish Airlines DC9 was hijacked Wednesday while on a flight from Ankara to Istanbul. There were 63 passengers aboard at the time, but some were allowed to leave the plane for medical treatment.

Biological Tides Tied

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Outbreaks of murder may be triggered by the moon tugging on "biological tides" inside the human body, a team of psychiatric researchers has found.

Dr. Arnold L. Lieber, a senior resident in psychiatry at the University of Miami's medical school, said Wednesday a two-year study had established a "scientifically sound relationship" between phases of the moon and the murder rate in Dade County.

Lieber said a chart of Miami-area homicides over the last 15 years plotted according to moon phases looks remarkably like a chart of ocean tides.

Using computer programs, Lieber and Dr. Carolyn R. Sherin of the University of Miami analyzed nearly 1,500 murders that occurred between 1956 and 1970.

The data revealed that the county's murder rate began to rise about 24 hours before the full moon, reached a peak at full moon, then dropped back before climbing again to a secondary peak at the new moon.

While the effect of the moon's gravitational pull on humans is small, Lieber said it may be enough to touch off emotional instability in "borderline" cases. This instability is reflected in the murder rate, which he terms a reliable measure of its effect on the general population.

Lieber said the makeup of the body itself helped him turn to the concept of "biological tides" to explain the phenomenon. The body is "a microcosm comprising essentially the same elements and in similar proportions as the earth's surface—approximately 80 per cent water and 20 per cent minerals," he said.

"I feel that eventually we are going to show that any organism responds to changes like variations in the solar cycle and the lunar cycle."

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Canada's intentions to discourage foreign takeover of its companies unless stiff requirements of self-interest are met is nothing that wasn't expected. It was inevitable.

And it is inevitable too that similar confrontations are developing in other nations where industry is falling into the hands of foreign companies with foreign allegiances who, it is felt, take more than they contribute.

Whether they do is debatable. What counts is the attitude of the country's citizens, and in an age of nationalism they often resent what they once welcomed.

The scenario is repeated time after time in country after country. The nation is underdeveloped. It lacks capital and other resources of its own, so it invites development by skilled foreign companies.

So eager are they to obtain these skills that they sometimes offer tax incentives to the big corporations of the developed world.

There are thousands of companies today who need foreign investments, if not for the markets that can be developed there then for the natural resources that can be extracted or cultivated and the labor force that can be developed or exploited.

We have in the industrial world today what are called multinational companies. They are too big for one nation; they consider the entire world their home and their market.

But there is a catch: No matter if they operate in 50 countries, they are based in one. No matter how carefully they deal with the local citizenry, obey their laws, respect their society, encourage their culture—their eventual allegiance is to another country.

Eventually, the conflicts arise. The developing country becomes stronger, prouder, more self-sufficient—or so it thinks until it observes how dependent it is to foreigners.

It begins then to fear the consequences to its political and cultural identity, and soon the rumblings of discontent are enacted into restrictive legislation, and in some countries into expropriation.

The trap in the latter is that some countries are more dependent than they realize. They need foreign industry if they are to have jobs and homes and food. To eject the foreigners is to spite themselves.

Canada intends to apply the criteria of self-interest to future takeovers of its companies by foreigners, but it does not, it seems, intend to otherwise restrict future foreign investments.

Nevertheless, its action is indicative of the concern being shown around the world as corporations invade each other's base countries.

There are many multinational companies, but there are relatively few effective multinational laws and standards to govern their activities.

Myth About Importance Of College Laid To Rest

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — For two decades it has been accepted as gospel in the United States that a person has little chance to make a good living without a college education.

Now, we are discovering the truth of what many campus rebels have been preaching the past five or six years—that a college education is no guarantee of a satisfactory job.

The U.S. Office of Education is warning young persons that within a few years only about 20 per cent of all the annual job openings will require the equivalent of a college education.

Requirements miscalculated. Government officials admit government bureaus seriously miscalculated the educational requirements of industry, commerce and the professions in recent years. Only a few years ago the federal labor department talked of a continuing shortage of teachers. Thousands of youngsters trained to become teachers. Now teaching is a contracting vocation and thousands of these youngsters cannot find jobs.

The St. Louis Regional Industrial Development Corp. has launched a campaign to "unsell" youth on the idea that college is absolutely necessary.

"Far more youngsters need up-to-date vocational or technical training than need college from the standpoint of job careers," said D. Reid Ross, executive vice president of the St. Louis group.

There are about 21,000 job classifications in the United States. "By 1980 there will be 30,000 and comparatively few will require even a bachelor's degree."

Ross cited a relatively recent government report saying that, while 10 million American youths are enrolled in vocational or technical schools today, 25 million should be.

The Big Problem. He conceded that in persuading young people to enroll for technical and vocational careers, the big problem is to avoid training them for jobs that already are becoming technologically obsolete.

To avoid this, his organization works with 39,000 employers in the St. Louis metropolitan area and more than 200 private technical schools as well as the public schools to make certain the training programs are geared to the future.

"We are not anti-college," Ross said, "it's fine for kids to go to college for self-fulfillment and many will find their careers there. But the notion that college automatically opens doors to careers is myth that ought to be laid to rest."

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market Thursday halted its recent decline as some investors added bargain-priced issues to their holdings. Trading was moderate.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had skidded some 20 points in the previous three sessions, closed up 3.84 at 937.31. Although decline led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by a narrow margin, the exchange's index of some 1,300 common stocks rose 0.10 to 59.10.

The gainers included motors, rubber issues, oils, airlines and building materials. Drugs were lower. All other groups were mixed.

The strengthening in the market occurred despite news that more U.S. ships and planes were en route to Vietnam and that the United States and South Vietnam had indefinitely suspended peace talks in Paris with the North Vietnamese.

Big Board volume eased to 14.76 million shares from 15.9 million Wednesday. On the American Stock Exchange, volume dropped to 3.85 million shares from 4.49 million Wednesday.

The most active Big Board issue for the second session in a row was American Motors, up 1/4 at 9 1/2 on a volume of 704,700 shares. The company had reported improved earnings in its later quarter.

Of the 1,734 issues traded on the Big Board, 729 declined, and 645 advanced. New yearly highs were reached by 14 issues and lows by 117.

Of the 1,194 issues traded on the American Stock Exchange, 514 declined, and 387 advanced.

The American Stock Exchange index declined .01 to 27.48. The Associated Press 60-stock average rose .7 to 331.0. Industrials were up 1.8, rails were off .1, and utilities were up .2.

AMERICAN MOTORS REPORTS PROFITS OF $12.96 MILLION

DETROIT (AP) — The American Motors Co., smallest of the big four automakers, reported a federal-tax-free profit of $12.96 million for the first half of its fiscal year.

It was the company's best six-month profit in seven years. Company officials said federal taxes due were offset by credits from previous losses.

The company suffered a loss in the second quarter of its previous fiscal year although it had a $1.1 million profit for the half year.

The six-month profit this year came from $66.2 million in sales, up from $61.4 million last year, officials said.

THEFT REPORTED

18 PERSONS DROWN IN FLASH FLOODS

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — A torrential rain touched off flash floods that drowned at least 18 persons Wednesday night. City officials said it was the worst such storm in 50 years.

A wave of muddy water swept automobiles, trees and some houses away as water poured down slopes of the Ajusco Mountains south of the city.

At one principal intersection of a suburban freeway, water covered cars and carried them away with people inside them.

Owner-trainer-driver Billy Haughton is president of the Standardbred Owners Association.

Nixon Leads Nation In Tribute To Hoover

By ISABELLE HALL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said Thursday that "J. Edgar Hoover was one of the giants in the nation's history."

He was true to his legacy, Nixon said during funeral services at the National Presbyterian Church for the 77-year-old Hoover, who directed the FBI for nearly half a century. Hoover was found dead in his home on Tuesday.

"Without peace officers we can never have peace," the President said in a brief funeral oration. "He was a peace officer without peer. He richly earned peace through all eternity."

The funeral services for Hoover, prior to his burial in Congressional Cemetery about a mile from the Capitol, came after his body rested in state for 22½ hours under the Capitol Dome.

Capitol police estimated that about 17,800 persons filed past Hoover's flag-draped bier in the Capitol Rotunda, about 4,500 of them during the first three hours he lay in state Wednesday.

About 2,000 persons attended the final rites at National Presbyterian, a spare, ultra-modern building with arches and vaults characterizing the Gothic architecture of several hundred years ago.

In his eulogy at the church, Nixon said: "Today is a day of sadness for America but it is also a day of pride."

"Once in a long while, America is a land of giants. J. Edgar Hoover was one of the giants."

"He became a living legend as a young man. His death only heightens the respect and admiration accorded him in life."

"He had a great influence for good in our national life," the President said. "The good J. Edgar Hoover has done will not die."

On Wednesday Nixon named L. Patrick Gray III, a lawyer and one-time submarine commander to serve as FBI director until he can find a permanent replacement for Hoover after the November election.

Through this move the President hoped to avoid election year conflict with Congress that might have arisen had he nominated a permanent successor at this time.

Gray is an assistant attorney general who was an aide to Nixon when he was vice president.

Gray, an assistant attorney general who was an aide to Nixon when he was vice president, was chosen for the job as the nation offered its last public honors to Hoover. Hoover's body was to be removed from the Capitol rotunda today for an 11 a.m. EDT funeral service at National Presbyterian Church with a eulogy by President Nixon. A private burial was to follow.

Hoover's flag-draped casket rested in the place of honor beneath the Capitol dome during the night as scattered visitors walked slowly across the marble floor past it to pay their last respects. By 11 p.m. Wednesday, 6,000 persons had filed past. On the steps outside a previously scheduled antiwar rally continued through the night.

Gray, 55, wears his sandy hair short and still carries the erect bearing of the Navy captain who saw service in World War II and the Korean War. He was involved in Nixon's unsuccessful try for the presidency in 1960 and rejoined Nixon after he entered the White House in 1969.

An administration source also told UPI Wednesday that Nixon was under intense pressure from his staff for the past year to ease Hoover out, but steadfastly refused to do so.

The source, who volunteered the information, said three separate meetings were held at which Nixon was urged to retire Hoover before he embar-

Prison Attitude

CHICAGO (AP)—James R. Hoffa, deposed Teamster Union president who spent nearly five years in a federal prison, said Thursday the current inmates will no longer stand for the conditions and attitudes prevalent in the nation's jails and prisons.

Hoffa, speaking at a meeting of the John Hoard Association, rased administration.

But the President said "absolutely not," saying that his contacts with Hoover had convinced him he could do the job and he had never even raised the question with the director, said the source.

The former union leader who has been campaigning for prison reform since he was pardoned last year, from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., criticized crowded conditions, food, hospital facilities and the attitude of prison officials.

He said one method jailers use to maintain peace in prison is to allow homosexuality.

"They allow homosexuals to live together as man and wife in cells. They allow rape and if the victim complains he is placed in solitary confinement," Hoffa charged.

Hoffa also said drugs of every type were available at Lewisburg.

of drugs he was told, "It's not that serious, it keeps everyone happy."

Hoffa said the authoritarian role of prison wardens and guards also must be changed, but he said jail conditions would not be improved until the public becomes involved and demands reform.

"You wonder why there aren't riots day after day," he said. He asserted that prison officials prevent inmates from speaking out by the threat of transferring them to other institutions where their families would not be able to visit them.

WAR, WORLD ISSUES

LONDON (AP)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers went into day-long talks with British leaders today on the deepening Vietnam crisis, European security and other world issues.

His meetings with Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home and Prime Minister Edward Heath are part of American consultations with European allies in advance of President Nixon's trip to Moscow this month.

The Americans are anxious to calm any European fears that the President may come to political and other arrangements with the Soviet Union at their expense.

Wednesday night from behind where student demonstrators protesting the Vietnam war blocked him from entering an exhibit.

His schedule also includes Belgium, Luxembourg, West Germany, France, Italy and Spain.

THE WORM TURNS?

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The American Fisheries Society says largemouth bass are among the craftiest of fish when it comes to avoiding a fisherman's lure. The Society conducted a study which demonstrated that largemouth bass fingerlings soon learned to avoid earthworms on hooks, while eating other worms free of hooks.

Parochial Funding Bills Reach Floor

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Despite predictions that state aid to nonpublic schools would be challenged in the courts, the plan's funding for the next fiscal year has moved to the floor of the Senate.

The Senate education committee kept the measure alive Thursday by approving a package of six bills which would give the state's private schools $30 million. The vote was 9-4.

The bills, sponsored by Sen. Robert Cherry, D-Chicago, assistant majority leader, were essentially identical to legislation allocating money for private schools for this fiscal year.

That appropriation was blocked by the state Supreme Court and state budget officials have transferred the money to the fiscal budget beginning in July.

The Cherry bills, which have the support of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, are aimed at providing funds in the event that existing appropriations do not pass the scrutiny of the courts.

In January the state Supreme Court questioned the power of the governor to amend a law to such an extent as to substantially rewrite the measure.

Ogilvie used his amendatory veto power on the nonpublic school appropriation last year so as to make it conform with federal court decisions thereby substantially changing it.

The package of bills includes one which appropriates $20.5 million for general aid and another $4.5 million for aid if the parents earn less than $3,000 a year. A third measure gives money for the purchase of text books by parents of students in private schools. The three other bills supply administration to distribute the funds.

All money would be distributed at the request of individual parents of students attending nonpublic schools and would be sent through the local school districts by the state office of public instruction, an aide to Cherry said.

Representatives of a half dozen organizations including the Illinois Jewish War Veterans, the American Civil Liberties Union and National Association of Catholic Laity opposed the bills, saying they are unconstitutional and threaten the separation of church and state.

"Schools using public funds should be open to all of society," declared Mrs. Newton Grove, first vice president of the Illinois Parent Teachers Association.

Sen. John G. Gilbert, R-Carbondale said that the measure would cause "a decline of the public school system ... (because) no nation in the world has been able to support two school systems."

"I'm tired of this subject," declared Sen. Harris Fawell, R-Naperville, who also voted against the bills. "I'm of the opinion that these bills are going nowhere."

Indications were, however, that Fawell may be wrong.

The bills have the backing of the Senate Democratic leadership as well as Ogilvie.

Furthermore, the House education committee on Wednesday night defeated 10-4 a House bill providing $30 million for nonpublic schools, leaving the Cherry bill the dominant one in the legislature.

Some witnesses before the Senate committee cited four U.S. Supreme Court rulings and some lower court decisions which have held state aid to nonpublic schools unconstitutional in other states.

"Those four U.S. Court decisions do not adversely affect the constitutionality of these bills," Cherry replied.

Close Crossing On East State For Repairs

The railroad crossing at East State street at the CB & Q tracks was closed Thursday and will remain closed for two or three days.

The railroad is raising the track level in cooperation with the City of Jacksonville proposed improvement and resurfacing of the track area.

City officials urged motorists to by-pass the crossing by using East College during the next few days.

When the railroad completes the repairs, the city will install blacktop material so that all the track area will be at the same level as the roadway.

Corbett Employee Indicted By Calhoun Jury

HARDIN, Ill. (AP) — An employee of an auto agency operated by state Rep. Jerry Corbett, D-Hardin, has been indicted by a Calhoun County grand jury for allegedly notarizing the signature of a deceased officer of the firm.

Mrs. Wanda Tepen was accused of official misconduct in an indictment returned Wednesday in connection with assignments by the agency of autos, some of which reportedly were sold to the State of Illinois.

The indictment said she notarized the signature of Leo Corbett on Dec. 17, 1970. Corbett, brother of the state legislator, died on Oct. 19, 1970.

Rep. Corbett was indicted last month in Springfield in connection with auto sales by the Corbett Ford Sales Co. of Hardin to the state.

Suspect Arson In Fires Near Versailles

MT. STERLING — Brown County Sheriff Lyle Dietrich has called in authorities from the State Fire Marshal's office to investigate two fires in the rural Versailles area, which occurred in successive nights.

Last Saturday, April 29th a vacant house was leveled by fire and the next night a barn containing hay underwent the same destruction.

The site is the Fred Thornberry property, located three miles northwest of Versailles. According to the sheriff and state authorities there is one suspect and the investigation is continuing.

Walker, Ogilvie Debate Set In Springfield

By MICHAEL ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and Daniel J. Walker, his Democratic challenger in the November election, lock horns Friday in the first debate of the 1972 gubernatorial campaign.

Both contestants set aside time for huddles with their top advisers to put finishing touches on their opening statements. The remarks were kept a tightly guarded secret by both camps.

"No way we let this one out before the debate starts," an Ogilvie spokesman said.

Actually, the oratorical battle set for a United Press International editors' meeting, will not take the form of a formal debate. Walker will lead off with a 15-minute statement, followed by a series of remarks by Ogilvie.

After that, 30 minutes is left open on the agenda for questions from newsmen.

Although both candidates made it clear they are taking pains to put up a good showing, neither planned to have polls taken following the contest.

Portions of the debate were scheduled to be shown in television news programs in various cities across the state but there were no plans for live coverage.

The gubernatorial campaign, unlike the primary in which Walker scored an upset victory over regular organization-backed Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, is likely to include a number of debates.

Ogilvie and Walker already are scheduled to confront each other again June 3 at a meeting in Chicago of the Independent Voters of Illinois.

To Ease Work Load

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Senate killed Thursday a long-standing bill aimed at requiring political candidates and parties to disclose details of campaign financing.

The bill was among 96 pieces of proposed legislation swept off the calendar amid pleas by members to pare down the amount of work awaiting the Senate before it adjourns next month.

Leaders on both sides of the aisle said later that the campaign spending bill could be revived before the lawmakers go home.

"The governor's office is interested in this bill and in my opinion it can be revived," Sen. Terrell Clarke, R-Western Springs, assistant Republican leader, said.

Senate Majority Leader Cecil A. Pardee, D-Chicago, also said that a possibility of breathing new life into the measure remained.

There was no floor discussion of killing the campaign spending bill, one of two "ethics" measures introduced by Sen. William C. Harris, R-Pontiac, a year ago following the discovery of the $750,000 Paul Powell "Shoeborn" fortune.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has often told newsmen the measure was introduced at his urging.

Another campaign spending bill remains alive in the House.

The vote to strike the $6 bills was a grudging, with many senators abstaining and complaining that the action downgraded Senate measures in favor of those still to come over from the House.

Both Pardee and Clarke agreed on the plan to strike the bills. The vote was 32-30 on the motion offered by Sen. Egbert Green, R-Pekin.

Aides to Pardee estimated the scything action also cut an equal number of bills down in Senate committees.

There was no official estimate of bills remaining on the Senate calendar, but observers guessed the total was about 600, including a clump of 500 procedural measures in themselves not controversial.

Green explained that the motion aimed to wipe out bills introduced in either house before June 30 last year and languishing still either in Senate committee or on the Senate floor.

However, he said, Pardee and Clarke could agree to resurrect any bill if one were needed to meet an emergency.

Pardee's staff said he and Clarke were using four categories as guidelines in determining whether bills should be kept alive or revived.

The categories are appropriations bills, revenue bills, measures to implement the 1970 Constitution, and bills sponsored by the administration of Ogilvie.
